consultancy in the various fields Data-Based Radiation Oncology - Design of Clinical Trials Kerstin A. Kessel, Anne W. Lee, Søren M. Bentzen, Bhadrasain Vikram, Fridtjof Nuesslin, Stephanie E. Combs, 2018-04-12 In radiation oncology as in many other specialties clinical trials are essential to investigate new therapy approaches Usually preparation for a prospective clinical trial is extremely time consuming until ethics approval is obtained To test a new treatment usually many years pass before it can be implemented in the routine care During that time already new interventions emerge new drugs appear on the market technical physical innovations are being implemented novel biology driven concepts are translated into clinical approaches while we are still investigating the ones from years ago Another problem is associated with molecular diagnostics and the growing amount of tumor specific biomarkers which allows for a better stratification of patient subgroups On the other side this may result in a much longer time for patient recruiting and consequently in larger multicenter trials Moreover all of the relevant data must be readily available for treatment decision making treatment as well as follow up and ultimately for trial evaluation This challenges even more for agreed standards in data acquisition quality and management How could we change the way currently clinical trials are performed in a way they are safe and ethically justifiable and speed up the initiation process so we can provide new and better treatments faster for our patients Further while we rely on various quantitative information handling distributed large heterogeneous amounts of data efficiently is very important Thus data management becomes a strong focus A good infrastructure helps to plan tailor and conduct clinical trials in a way they are easy and quickly analyzable In this research topic we want to discuss new ideas for intelligent trial designs and concepts for data management Integrating Device Data into the Electronic Medical Record John Zaleski, 2008-12-23 Future generations of vital signs and point of care medical devices must interoperate directly and seamlessly with information technology systems to facilitate effective patient care management within the healthcare enterprise This is the first book addressing medical device integration with the computer based patient record in a holistic way Readers step into the area of two way device communication control and learn best practises from an author known for his brilliant expertise in this field It is a fundamental guide for a broad group of people clinical and biomedical engineers physicians bioinformatics practitioners and vendors Providing the essential how to for medical device integration into the electronic medical record EMR health information system HIS and computerized patient record CPR the book highlights information on data extraction usually not offered by device vendors This comprises topics such as the use of third party software information on what to do when you develop interfaces on your own regulatory issues and how to assure connectivity and access to data For physicians it is a primer and knowledge manual for data integration when applied to clinical care and trials It gives information on knowledge management and how data can be used statistically and as a tool in patient care management Furthermore it impresses upon the reader the quantities of data that must be processed and reduced to make for effective use at the point of care HIS and CPR vendors may learn how data integration can be simplified and how software developers may be assisted in the process of communicating vital information to their repositories The book is rounded off by a chapter on the future of integration

EHealth2014 - Health Informatics Meets EHealth A. Hörbst,D. Hayn,G. Schreier,2014-06-03 It is generally accepted that information and communication technology has the potential to support high quality high tech medicine but up to now healthcare has lagged behind other sectors such as service industries in the implementation of such technology Medicine is now beginning to catch up however and the Austrian government recently agreed on the nationwide implementation of an Electronic Health Record Elektronische Gesundheitsakte ELGA _x000D_ This book presents the proceedings of the 8th scientific eHealth conference which is being held in Vienna Austria in the context of the eHealth Summit Austria in April 2014 The theme of the conference is Outcomes Research The Benefit of Health IT addressing the challenges which will inevitably accompany the new opportunities offered by the increased use of ICT in healthcare The history of technologies making the transition from the laboratory into practice is one of mixed success It is vital to understand what makes such an implementation a positive one and factors such as the needs fears and context of potential users are as important as a sound technical implementation Priorities may need to be rethought and new dimensions added _x000D_ The book will be of interest to all those considering the effect of new technologies and eHealth on the provision of healthcare systems and seeking to achieve services which are both technically and organizationally sound and which will also efficiently deliver noticeable benefits for users
