Office,2013-06-06 HMRC s renewed strategy for tackling tobacco smuggling is logical and includes a wide range of complementary measures but the Department does not yet have an integrated approach to deterring and disrupting the distribution of illicit tobacco within the UK This report identifies some good progress in building intelligence overseas with the expansion of HMRC s network of intelligence officers which helped overseas authorities seize goods equivalent to a prevented revenue loss of 658 million between 2011 12 and 2012 13 HMRC met all but one of its key operational targets for tobacco in 2011 12 but failed to meet any of its targets in 2012 13 HMRC is unlikely to achieve its plan to prevent 1 4 billion in revenue being lost to tobacco smuggling from investment in new tobacco initiatives over the spending review period Key initiatives have been delayed or cancelled HMRC achieved 328 million by the end of 2012 13 from these new initiatives less than two thirds of the benefit expected so far 527 million HMRC recognizes the need for better intelligence on distribution networks if it is to target its domestic enforcement activities efficiently It also lacks a good understanding of the volume of prosecutions and other sanctions needed to deter effectively the trade in illicit tobacco Tobacco manufacturers have a legal obligation not to facilitate smuggling so far as is reasonably practical and HMRC has worked with them to review supply chain policies However so far it has issued only one warning letter and no penalties Principles of Psychology Matt
