

To Kill A Mockingbird

Chapter 9:

1. Why does Scout forget when Atticus told her about fighting?
Cecil Jacobs said about Atticus: "defendant niggers."
2. What is Atticus about to do? This seriously places his honor in question.
He is going to defend Tom Robinson, a black man, in court against a white man.
3. What does Atticus say about this case?
"If I didn't, I couldn't hold my head up in town, I couldn't represent this county in the legislature, I wouldn't even tell you or Jem not to do something again."
"Simply because we were linked a hundred years before we started to do reasons for us not to try to win."
4. What does Atticus tell Scout to do when she hears "ugly talk" at school?
"But remember this, no matter how mean things get, they're still our friends and this is still our home."
"Hold your head high and keep those fists down."
5. Describe Scout's extended family.
Aunt Alexandra is "cold and stern." She says Scout should behave more like a lady. Charlie Finney never talks. Francis Maudslaw is a year older than Scout, is her cousin, and has opposite interests. Uncle Jack is a well-loved doctor and has a cat named Snow White.
6. Why does Scout fight Francis?
Francis says DADS has no honor. Francis also says that Atticus is a "nigger-lover" and is ruining the family.
7. What does Scout make her Uncle Jack promise not to tell Atticus?
She doesn't want Atticus to know why she fought Francis.
"He...he asked me one time not to let anything I heard about him make me mad, no." "I'd rather take that we were fighting about something else instead."
8. What does Atticus tell Jack he hopes Jem and Scout will do instead of listening to the town?
"Scout's got to learn to keep her head and learn soon, with what is store for her these next few months. She's coming along, though. Jem's getting older and she follows his example a good bit now. All she needs is guidance sometimes."
