

ASSETS

Assets are resources owned by a business that have economic value and can be converted into cash. They are divided into current assets and non-current assets.

Current Assets are assets that are expected to be converted into cash or sold within one year. Examples include cash, accounts receivable, inventory, and prepaid expenses.

Non-current Assets are assets that are not expected to be converted into cash or sold within one year. Examples include property, plant, and equipment, and intangible assets like patents and trademarks.

LIABILITIES

Liabilities are obligations or debts that a business owes to other parties. They are divided into current liabilities and non-current liabilities.

Current Liabilities are liabilities that are due within one year. Examples include accounts payable, short-term debt, and accrued expenses.

Non-current Liabilities are liabilities that are due after more than one year. Examples include long-term debt, pension liabilities, and deferred tax liabilities.

Accounting Concepts and Applications K. Fred Skousen, 1996 Accounting Stephen C. Shaefer, 2001-06 The Demo Docs System of instruction replicates the classroom experience by providing more I get it moments outside of class We've talked to tons of POA instructors and our editors have even taken the accounting course numerous times to figure out the following issue in this course that is consistent Students understand or get it right after you do a problem in class but as soon as they leave class with each passing hour their ability to do the problems again and complete their homework diminishes to the point of them either having to come to office hours to get help or they just quit and get behind in the course On top of this you can end up getting behind in the course as well in order to keep everyone on track The Demo Docs system helps to recreate the I get it moments outside of class keeping both you and the students on track Principles of Accounting
