Coats made from the fur of raccoons were very popular in the 1800s and a single pelt could be sold for twenty-five cents. This fashion trend led to a rise in both pelts prices and the hunting and trapping of raccoons. One type of coon hunting is done by setting traps that are periodically checked. Another type of coon hunting is typically done at night with specially trained dogs such as the Treeing Walker, Black and Tan, and

Blueticks. These dogs are trained as young as 6 weeks old to follow a hunter's lead and leave behind when hunting, the hunter in and follow only when the dogs have to track the coon. Once the dogs have located the coon, the hunter will follow them and then kill the raccoon for use for its
