This groundbreaking book brings together for the first time ideas and expertise across this vast subject area into one interconnected publication. It explores the subjects of missing children, missing adults, the investigative process of missing person cases, and the families of missing persons. Those with no prior knowledge or professionals with focused knowledge in some areas will be able to expand their understanding of a variety of topics relevant to this field through detailed chapters which advance our understanding of this complex phenomenon, discuss what is unknown, and suggest the best and most important steps forward to further advance our knowledge.

Gynecological Cancers Antonio Giordano, Marcella Macaluso, 2016-07-12 Facilitating the collaboration between the basic translational and clinical sciences, this book provides an overview of the genetic and epigenetic mechanisms underlying the formation and progression of gynecological cancers. Gynecological Cancers: Genetic and Epigenetic Targets and Drug Development gathers all of the molecular and cellular aspects of gynecological cancer together within one volume, providing detailed and up-to-date information on the etiology, diagnosis, and treatment of gynecological cancers. Gynecological Cancers: Genetic and Epigenetic Targets and Drug Development also discusses the racial and ethnic disparities in the treatment of gynecological cancers through cost-effective modalities like single visit screening and diagnosis, well women clinics, and mobile clinics. Written and edited by leaders in the field, this volume within the Current Clinical Oncology series is an indispensable resource for today's practicing oncologist.

The Eternal Criminal Record James B. Jacobs, 2015-02-09 For 60 million Americans, a criminal record overshadows everything else about their identity. Citizens have a right to know when someone around them represents a threat. But convicted persons have rights too. James Jacobs examines the problem of erroneous records and proposes ways to eliminate discrimination for those who have been rehabilitated.

Nasopharyngeal Cancer Jun Ma, Nancy Y. Lee, Jiade J. Lu, 2021-03-10 This book provides up-to-date guidance that will assist radiation oncologists during the day-to-day management of nasopharyngeal cancer. After discussion of diagnosis and staging, target delineation techniques and treatment planning are described for both intensity modulated and particle radiation therapy. Detailed information is then presented on the application of radiation therapy in different disease settings, from early stage disease to metastatic disease. Due attention is paid to the role of multimodality treatment and new and advanced technologies in particular circumstances such as local recurrence. In addition, follow-up and the management of late toxicities are explained, and management strategies are documented for special situations and groups including pediatric patients. The book is published within the Springer series Practical Guides in Radiation Oncology. Like other volumes in the series, it is designed for hands-on use by both radiation oncology residents and practicing radiation oncologists. It will also be of value for head and neck physicians.

Points of Entry Vic Satzewich, 2015-09-01 Every year over 1.3 million people apply to visit, work, or settle in Canada. It falls to visa officers to determine who gets in and who stays out. In the face of this enormous responsibility how do these gatekeepers use their discretionary authority to assess eligibility credibility and risk Seeking answers to this question Vic Satzewich conducted interviews with 128 visa officers locally engaged staff and immigration program managers at eleven overseas offices He reveals how the organizational context within which they work shapes their decision making When something in an application does not add up somber photographs from a supposed wedding celebration for example an officer conducts follow up interviews with the applicant In a world where no two visa applications are the same and in the context of complex and shifting population movements and pressures this is a fascinating look at how visa officers do their work      A Practical Guide to MR-Linac Indra J.
