

The Worst Day Of My Life

I remember very well the way it happened and the slow decline into my father's passing. He was always a lively person with full of energy. He was always laughing and always had the best jokes it was a blow to the whole family when he passed away. I had a friend spending the night over at my house. The next morning my mother and father just came back from their trip in Los Angeles. I heard about how bad of health he had went into in just a week and a few days. I stayed there the whole time, never leaving.

My mother, my two other older sisters went to the Summerlin hospital to saying her final goodbyes, but I couldn't 't do it. I couldn't 't go to the shell that once held my lively and spirited father. While at the hospital the funeral home people had

Terrorism in American Memory Marita Sturken, 2022-01-18 The role of cultural memory in American identity Terrorism in American Memory argues that the terrorist attacks of 9 11 and all that followed in its wake were the primary force shaping United States politics and culture in the post 9 11 era Marita Sturken maintains that during the past two decades when the country was subjected to terrorist attacks and promulgated ongoing wars of aggression we have veered into increasingly polarized factions and been extraordinarily preoccupied with memorialization and the politics of memory The post 9 11 era began with a hunger for memorialization and it ended with massive protests over police brutality that demanded the destruction of historical monuments honoring racist historical figures Sturken argues that memory is both the battleground and the site for negotiations of national identity because it is a field through which the past is experienced in the present The paradox of these last two decades is that it gave rise to an era of intensely nationalistic politics in response to global terrorism at the same time that it released the containment of the ghosts of terrorism embedded within US history And within that disruption new stories emerged new memories were unearthed and the story of the nation is being rewritten For these reasons this book argues that the post 9 11 era has come to an end and we are now in a new still undefined era with new priorities and national demands An era preoccupied with memory thus begins with the memorial projects of 9 11 and ends with the radical intervention of the National Memorial for Peace and Justice informally known as the Lynching Memorial in Montgomery Alabama a project that unlike the nationalistic 9 11 Memorial and Museum in New

York dramatically rewrites the national script of American history Woven within analyses of memorialization memorials memory museums art projects on memory and architectural projects is a discussion about design and architecture the increased creation of memorials as experiences and the role of architecture as national symbolism and renewal Terrorism in American Memory sheds light on the struggles over who is memorialized who is forgotten and what that politics of memory reveals about the United States as an imaginary and a nation
