The Zebra Stood in the Night Kerry Hardie, 2014 The seventh collection by Kerry Hardie one of Ireland's leading poets

The Body in Pain in Irish Literature and Culture Fionnuala Dillane, Naomi McAreavey, Emilie Pine, 2016-12-06 This book elucidates the ways the pained and suffering body has been registered and mobilized in specifically Irish contexts across more than four hundred years of literature and culture There is no singular approach to what pain means the material addressed in this collection covers diverse cultural forms from reports of battles and executions to stage and screen representations of sexual violence produced in response to different historical circumstances in terms that confirm our understanding of how pain whether endured or inflicted witnessed or remediated is culturally coded Pain is as open to ongoing redefinition as the Ireland that features in all of the essays gathered here This collection offers new paradigms for understanding Ireland's literary and cultural history The Saturday Evening Post, 1926 SCC Library has 1974 89 plus scattered issues more than just a compilation of stories full of wisdom These stories introduce morals in a lighthearted way that inspire wisdom in yourself I have never read a more thought provoking and inspirational piece You will walk away from reading this book constantly pondering self improvement Liz Bullock editor From Day to Day Odd Nansen, 2021-04-30 This new hardcover edition of Odd Nansen's diary the first in over sixty five years contains extensive annotations and other material not found in any other hardcover or paperback versions Nansen a Norwegian was arrested in 1942 by the Nazis and spent the remainder of World War II in concentration camps Grini in Oslo Veidal above the Arctic Circle and Sachsenhausen in Germany For three and a half years Nansen kept a secret diary on tissue paper thin pages later smuggled out by various means including inside the prisoners hollowed out breadboards Unlike writers of retrospective Holocaust memoirs Nansen recorded the mundane and horrific details of camp life as they happened from day to day With an unsparing eye Nansen described the casual brutality and random terror that was the fate of a camp prisoner His entries reveal his constantly frustrated hopes for an early end to the war his longing for his wife and children his horror at the especially barbaric treatment reserved for Jews and his disgust at the anti-Semitism of some of his fellow Norwegians Nansen often confronted his German jailors with unusual outspokenness and sometimes with a sense of humor and absurdity that was not appreciated by his captors After the Putnam s edition received rave reviews in 1949 the book fell into obscurity In 1956 in response to a poll about the most undeservedly neglected book of the preceding quarter century Carl Sandburg singled out From Day to Day calling it an epic narrative which took its place among the great affirmations of the power of the human spirit to rise above terror torture and death Indeed Nansen witnessed all the horrors of the camps yet still saw hope for the future He sought reconciliation with the German people even donating the proceeds of the German edition of his book to German refugee relief work Nansen was following in the footsteps of his father Fridtjof an Arctic explorer and humanitarian who was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize in 1922 for his work on behalf of World War I refugees Fridtjof also created the Nansen passport for stateless persons Forty sketches of camp life and death by Nansen an architect and talented draftsman provide a sense of immediacy and acute observation matched by the diary entries The preface is written by Thomas Buergenthal who was Tommy the ten year old survivor of the Auschwitz Death March whom Nansen met at Sachsenhausen and saved using his extra food rations Buergenthal author of A Lucky Child formerly served as a judge on the International Court of Justice at The Hague and is a recipient of the 2015 Elie Wiesel Award from the US Holocaust Memorial Museum Collier's ,1909
