Dear (client name),

As you know, a good relationship between a mental health provider and his/her client is essential for quality counseling. There are times when this relationship is no longer effective and the provider finds it necessary to ask the client to select another (therapist, counselor, etc.).

I would like to take this opportunity to notify you that I will no longer be your (therapist, counselor, etc.) because of the following reasons:

- I have identified a conflict of interest since treatment has begun.
- You have not made adequate progress towards our treatment goals set on (date(s)).
- You are not willing to comply with treatment recommendations made on (date(s)).
- You have consistently failed to keep your appointments.
- You have consistently not followed through on mutually agreed treatment goals.
- Your interactions with me have continued to threaten my personal safety.
- You have maintained your intent to terminate care with me.
- You have mental health needs that are beyond my area of expertise.
- You need a level of care higher than I can provide.

This letter is to advise you that I will no longer be available to provide treatment after (FUTURE DATE)-30 DAYS). I will be available to meet with you so that you have access to care while you choose another provider. Our office will forward a copy of your clinical record to your new behavioral health provider upon your written request. I am enclosing a release form that you may fill out and sign to tell me where to send a copy of your record. I will only send those parts of the record that you designate.

I highly recommend that you select another (therapist, counselor, etc.) promptly so you can resume your treatment.

I will be available to suggest alternative providers or you may contact your managed care organization or current insurer for additional referrals.

Very truly yours,
