ENC Focus, 1994 Television/Death Helen Wheatley, 2024-04-30 Television Death intertwines the study of death dying and bereavement on television with discussion of the ways that television and the TV archive provides access to the dead Section One looks at the representation of death dying and the afterlife on television in historical and contemporary factual television from around the world and in US television drama Section Two focuses on dramas of grief and bereavement and discusses how the long form seriality and narrative complexity of television from family melodramas to the ghost serial allows for an emotionally realist representation of experiences of grief bereavement and death related trauma Finally Section Three proposes that television has been overlooked in critical analyses of recorded sounds and images propensity to bring back the dead It argues that television is the posthumous medium par excellence and looks at how the dead return via incorporation into new television programmes or through projects to bring television out of the archive Resources in Education, 1993

Mutants, Androids, and Aliens James A. Tyner, 2025-05-19 In both literature and film mutants androids and aliens have long functioned as humanity's Other nonhuman bodies serving as surrogates to explore humanity's prejudice bigotry and hatred Scholars working in fields of feminism ethnic studies queer studies and disability studies among others have deconstructed representations of the Othered body and the ways these fictional depictions provide insight into the contested terrains of identity subjectivity and personhood In science fiction more broadly and the superhero genre in particular the fictional Other often a superhero or a villain is juxtaposed against the normal human and such Others have long been the subject of academic investigation Author James A Tyner shifts this scholarly focus to consider the ordinary humans who ally with or oppose Othered superheroes Law enforcement officers military officials politicians and the countless nameless civilians are all examples of humans who try to make sense of a rapidly changing more than human and other than human universe The resulting volume Mutants Androids and Aliens On Being Human in the Marvel Cinematic Universe provides a critical posthumanist reading of being human in the Marvel Cinematic Universe MCU Centering the MCU s secondary human characters including Matthew Ellis Ellen Nadeer Rosalind Price as well as Jimmy Woo Sadie Deever Holden Radcliffe and others Tyner considers how these characters attempt to monitor incarcerate or exterminate those beings considered unnatural and thus threatening Placing into conversation posthumanism environmental ethics and myriad philosophical and biological ontologies of life and death Tyner maintains that the superhero genre reflects the current complexities of meaningful life and of what happens in society when the human is no longer the unquestioned normative standard

Reprogramming the Brain Benjamin Stecher,Alfonso Fasano,2024-03-26 In June 2021 Doctor and Patient decided that time had come to surgically implant two six inch long metal alloy spikes all the way through Ben s brain It was felt that the medications Ben was taking to control his Parkinson s disease had become unmanageable Back then Ben was taking about 20 different pills a day Each pill if it absorbed properly would activate the dopamine pathways in his brain and induce uncontrollable writhing movements that would last for about an hour He would then get about 20 minutes where he d feel somewhat normal before the slowness and tremor kicked in again So he d take another pill and the cycle would repeat After months of adjusting his medication and finding just the right settings on his deep brain stimulator it was decided for the first time ever in a clinical trial in North America to flip on the adaptive settings This is the story of how that decision was made and what happened next

Publishers' circular and booksellers' record ,1892 Athenaeum and Literary Chronicle ,1853 Technology, Science Teaching, and Literacy Kenneth P. King,2005-12-27 This book deals with the use of technology in science teaching The author is not nor has ever had an intention of being a techie Rather I spent the first decade of my professional life as a high school physics teacher making occasional uses of technology to further student understanding and to automate my own teaching practices During my graduate work my interest in the use of technology continued Catalyzed to some extent by the increasing availability of graphical interfaces for computers the realization struck that the computer was more and more becoming a tool that all teachers could use to support their teaching practice not simply those with a passion for the technology itself The rapid changes in the hardware and software available however frequently caused me to reflect on the usefulness of technology if it were to change at such a rapid pace would anyone save for those who diligently focused on the development of these tools be able to effectively use technology in science teaching Was change to rapid to yield a useful tool for teachers To address this interest I examined the nature of science teaching during this century using the equally fluid notion of scientific literacy which formed the organizing principle for this study

The result is a examination of how technology was used to accomplishing this goal of producing scientifically literate citizens
What was observed is that technology indeed consistently came to the service of teachers as they attempted to achieve this goal
