are small, all three are an excellent fit for what you are looking for. I believe that the most important thing to consider is the price. The most expensive of the three is the 1000, but it is also the most powerful. The 500 is the most affordable, but it is also the least powerful. The 750 is the middle option, but it is also the most versatile. I would recommend the 750 if you are looking for a good balance of price and performance.
