Negotiating Academic Literacies Vivian Zamel, Ruth Spack, 2012-08-06

Negotiating Academic Literacies Teaching and Learning Across Languages and Cultures is a cross over volume in the literature between first and second language literacy This anthology of articles brings together different voices from a range of publications and fields and unites them in pursuit of an understanding of how academic ways of knowing are acquired The editors preface the collection of readings with a conceptual framework that reconsiders the current debate about the nature of academic literacies In this volume the term academic literacies denotes multiple approaches to knowledge including reading and writing critically College classrooms have become sites where a number of languages and cultures intersect This is the case not only for students who are in the process of acquiring English but for all learners who find themselves in an academic situation that exposes them to a new set of expectations This book is a contribution to the effort to discover ways of supporting learning across languages and cultures and to transform views about what it means to teach and learn to read and write and to think and know Unique to this volume is the inclusion of the perspectives of writers as well as those of teachers and researchers Furthermore the contributors reveal their own struggles and accomplishments as they themselves have attempted to negotiate academic literacies The chronological ordering of articles provides a historical perspective demonstrating ways in which issues related to teaching and learning across cultures have been addressed over time The readings have consistency in terms of quality depth and passion they raise important philosophical questions even as they consider practical classroom applications The editors provide a series of questions that enable the reader to engage in a generative and exciting process of reflection and inquiry This book is both a reference for teachers who work or plan to work with diverse learners and a text for graduate level courses primarily in bilingual and ESL studies composition studies English education and literacy studies

Honour Based Crimes and the Law Mukaddes Gorar,2021-05-10 Honour based violence and abuse manifests itself in different forms and this book offers a comprehensive understanding of this phenomenon This book argues that the limits of honour crimes must be defined more widely so that they include conducts and behaviours that originate from the patriarchal notion of honour such as honour based oppression and breast ironing The book provides a critical analysis and synthesis of the law in England and Wales and in the international human rights sphere The relevant domestic legislation and cases are examined to reflect on whether adequate protection is provided for the victims and potential victims of honour based violence and abuse Since honour based violence is a violation of human rights the relevant international human rights law is examined to illustrate the perception of such crimes in the international arena The effectiveness of any remedy for victims of honour based violence and abuse depends on its capability to change deep rooted behaviours in communities with honour based patriarchal values This book argues that the law does not provide the effective impact required in part due to patriarchal structures and that more efforts should be dedicated to changes in education It is held that there is a need for an educational programme that is especially designed to tackle violence and promote gender equality The book will be essential reading for academics researchers and policy makers working in the areas of Human Rights Law Criminal Law and Gender Studies
