Restructuring The Postwar World Chapter 33 Key:

Why Nations Realign Kal Holsti, 2015-10-14 This book originally published in 1982 analyzes the process of radical foreign policy change how states restructure their foreign relations and why they do so Using a common analytical framework the authors examine Bhutan Burma Canada China and Tanzania They distinguish between piecemeal foreign policy change and adaptation and the fundamental re ordering of foreign policy Their analysis underlines the extent to which non military and sometimes imagined threats such as dependency and external economic and cultural penetration can constitute an important cause of radical realignment activity

Restructuring Relations Rauna Johanna Kuokkanen, 2019 Self determination foundational value Indigenous self government structures in Canada Greenland and S pmi Implementing indigenous self determination self administration repatriation or independence Gendering indigenous self government Self determination and violence against indigenous women Indigenous gender justice as restructuring relations

Restructuring Relations Rauna Kuokkanen, 2019-03-01 Adopted in 2007 the UN Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples establishes self determination including free prior and informed consent as a foundational right and principle Self determination both individual and collective is among the most important and pressing issues for Indigenous women worldwide Yet Indigenous women s interests have been overlooked in the formulation of Indigenous self government and existing studies of Indigenous self government largely ignore issues of gender As such the current literature on Indigenous governance conceals patriarchal structures and power that create barriers for women to resources and participation in Indigenous societies Drawing on Indigenous and feminist political and legal theory as well as extensive participant interviews in Canada Greenland and Scandinavia this book argues that the current rights discourse and focus on Indigenous state relations is too limited in scope to convey the full meaning of self determination for Indigenous peoples The book conceptualizes self determination as a foundational value informed by the norm of integrity and suggests that Indigenous self determination cannot be achieved without restructuring all relations of domination nor can it be secured in the absence of gender justice As a foundational value self determination seeks to restructure all relations of domination not only hegemonic relations with the state Importantly it challenges the opposition between self determination and gender created and maintained by international law Indigenous political discourse and Indigenous institutions Restructuring relations of domination further entails examining the gender regimes present in existing Indigenous self government institutions interrogating the relationship between Indigenous self determination and gender violence and considering future visions of Indigenous self determination such as repatriation of Indigenous governance and an independent statehood

Making Feminist Sense of the Global Justice Movement Catherine Eschle, Bice Manguashca, 2010-01-16 In recent years the global justice movement has grabbed headlines and reshaped political imaginations worldwide Surprisingly however feminism is largely absent from accounts of the movement despite the fact that feminists are extensively involved on the ground Addressing this significant gap in the literature Eschle and Maiguashca shine a powerful light on what they term feminist antiglobalization activism Drawing on their fieldwork at the World Social Forum and European Social Forum 2003 2005 they begin by outlining the vital role of feminist antiglobalization activism in Forum processes and events while also emphasizing its diversity The authors then trace the origins of this activism the critiques and aspirations of those involved their political practices beyond the Forum and their efforts to forge a sense of solidarity among themselves and with others Taking feminism seriously Eschle and Maiguashca conclude points us toward a richer and more theoretically nuanced understanding of the global justice movement and its struggle to create other possible worlds Their book thus offers vital insights not only for feminists but also for all those interested in contemporary social movements and in global governance and resistance The Global Village of the Twentieth Century Gloria K. Fiero,1995 Globalization, Global Security, and New International Realities for Modern Democracies Alaverdov, Emilia,Abuseridze, Giga,2025-05-16 Globalization offers both opportunities and threats influencing political economic and social spheres worldwide While its everyday manifestations are often seen as natural they result from political decisions by governments and legislative bodies with the decline of sovereign states roles leaving a gap in legitimate global authority The creation of global democracy risks reflecting the dominance of a few international powers but the political processes shaping globalization remain crucial to democratic systems In terms of global security a system based on international law is essential focusing on disarmament environmental protection and combating terrorism while also addressing issues like ethno-political conflicts The current crisis in international relations marked by divergent views and the rise of proxy and hybrid wars calls for the establishment of new rules and global structures that can better reflect the complexities of a rapidly changing world Globalization Global Security and New International Realities for Modern Democracies explores the complex and interconnected forces shaping the modern world focusing on globalization global security and the evolving dynamics of international relations It examines how globalization driven by political decisions and technological advancements reshapes economies societies and cultures while creating new challenges related to sovereignty democracy and governance This book covers topics such as geopolitics global business policymaking and is a useful resource for business owners government officials policymakers academicians researchers and political scientists The Surveillance Web Mike McCahill,2013-01-11 The rise of CCTV and surveillance technologies has been one of the key developments in contemporary society but its impact has often been analysed in a fragmented manner This book addresses this issue by providing a detailed micro sociological account of the construction of a CCTV network in one English city It differs from previous studies which have concentrated on open street CCTV systems in documenting and analysing the use of visual surveillance systems in a number of different locations and institutional settings including the industrial workplace shopping malls high rise housing schemes and hospitals It is concerned not just with abstract categories of grand theory but seeks to explain how people living in contemporary society experience these changes The Surveillance Web situates the growth of visual surveillance systems in the context of many of the key concerns of theorists of modernity and makes a key contribution to understanding the nature of the relationship between surveillance and society Its starting point is to view the relationship between surveillance and society as a two way process the book looks at both the social impact of visual surveillance systems and at how the impact of these technologies is shaped by existing social relations political practice and cultural traditions provides a richly textured account and analysis of the introduction of visual surveillance technologies CCTV in an English city explores the impact of the introduction and use of visual surveillance systems in a wide variety of locales and institutional settings both public and private makes a key contribution to theoretical debates over the relationship between surveillance systems and society one of the central concerns of theorists of modernity Metropolitan Migrants Rubén

Hernández-León, 2008-09-02 Challenging many common perceptions this book is dedicated to understanding a major new phenomenon the large number of skilled urban workers who are coming to America from Mexico's cities Based on a ten year study of one working class neighbourhood in Monterrey the book studies the forces that lead to Mexican emigration

Canadian Defence Industry in the New Global Environment Alistair D. Edgar, David G. Haglund, 1995-05-01
Alistair Edgar and David Haglund examine changes in the international demand for defence products in the post Cold War era, review the reorganization and rationalization of the supply side of the international defence market through various government policy initiatives and corporate strategies and discuss the ways in which the Canadian government and defence producers have attempted to cope with this new and uncertain international environment. They also explore the international and domestic contexts, military, economic and political, within which defence industries operate. Edgar and Haglund's analysis draws on extensive interviews with political and industry leaders, military personnel and government officials from Canada, the United States, the United Kingdom, France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Norway, Denmark, Spain and Germany. This timely study of the domestic American and other NATO defence markets will interest scholars and students of Canadian defence policy, Canadian foreign policy and Canadian external relations and public servants, politicians and personnel in the industry.

Whitaker's Cumulative Book List, 1983 Marxism Against Postmodernism in Educational Theory Mike Cole, Dave Hill, Peter McLaren, 2002-12-11
Postmodernism has become the orthodoxy in educational theory. It heralds the end of grand theories like Marxism and liberalism, scorning any notion of a united feminist challenge to patriarchy, of united anti-racist struggle and of united working class movements against capitalist exploitation and oppression. For postmodernists, the world is fragmented, history is ended and all struggles are local and particularistic. Written by internationally renowned British and American educational theorists, Marxism Against Postmodernism in Educational Theory is a substantially revised edition of the original 1999 work Postmodernism in Educational Theory, which critically examines the infusion of postmodernism and theories of postmodernity into educational theory, policy and research. The writers argue that postmodernism provides neither a viable educational politics nor the foundation for effective radical educational practice and offer an alternative politics of human resistance which puts the challenge to capitalism firmly on the agenda of educational theory, politics and practice.
