Jackson, 2021-06-19 Human driven greenhouse emissions are increasing the velocity of climate change and the frequency and intensity of climate extremes far above historical levels These changes along with other human perturbations are setting the conditions for more rapid and abrupt ecosystem dynamics and collapse This book presents new evidence on the rapid emergence of ecosystem collapse in response to the progression of anthropogenic climate change dynamics that are expected to intensify as the climate continues to warm Discussing implications for biodiversity conservation the chapters provide examples of such dynamics globally covering polar and boreal ecosystems temperate and semi arid ecosystems as well as tropical and temperate coastal ecosystems Given its scope the volume appeals to scientists in the fields of general ecology terrestrial and coastal ecology climate change impacts and biodiversity conservation

Forest Development in Cold Climates John Alden, J. Louise Mastrantonio, Soren Ødum, 2013-06-29 As forests decline in temperate and tropical climates highly developed countries and those striving for greater economic and social benefits are beginning to utilize marginal forests of high latitude and mountainous regions for resources to satisfy human needs The benefits of marginal forests range from purely aesthetic to providing resources for producing many goods and services demanded by a growing world population Increased demands for forest resources and amenities and recent warming of high latitude climates have generated interest in reforestation and afforestation of marginal habitats in cold regions Afforestation of treeless landscapes improves the environment for human habitation and provides for land use and economic prosperity Trees are frequently planted in cold climates to rehabilitate denuded sites for the amenity of homes and villages and for wind shelter recreation agroforestry and industrial uses In addition forests in cold climates reduce the albedo of the earth's surface in winter and in summer they are small but significant long lived sinks for atmospheric carbon dioxide Finally growth and reproductive success of forests at their geographic limits are sensitive indices of climatic change As efforts to adapt forests to cold climates increase however new afforestation problems arise and old ones intensify Austral northern and altitudinal tree limits are determined by many different factors Current hypotheses for
