Guevarra, 2023-07-14 Aloha Compadre Latinxs in Hawai i is the first book to examine the collective history and contemporary experiences of the Latinx population of Hawai'i. This study reveals that contrary to popular discourse, Latinx migration to Hawai'i is not a recent event. In the national memory of the United States, for example, the Latinx population of Hawai'i is often portrayed as recent arrivals and not as long-term historical communities with a presence that precedes the formation of statehood itself. Historically speaking, Latinxs have been voyaging to the Hawaiian Islands for over one hundred and ninety years. From the early 1830s to the present, they continue to help shape Hawai'i's history, yet their contributions are often overlooked. Latinxs have been a part of the cultural landscape of Hawai'i prior to annexation, territorial status, and statehood in 1959. Aloha Compadre also explores the expanding boundaries of Latinx migration beyond the western hemisphere and into Oceania. Northwest Musical Herald, 1928

Collaborative Creative Thought and Practice in Music Margaret S. Barrett, 2016-05-23. The notion of the individual creator, a product in part of the Western romantic ideal, is now troubled by accounts and explanations of creativity as a social construct. While in collectivist cultures, the assimilation but not the denial of individual authorship into the complexities of group production and benefit has been a feature, the notion of the lone individual creator has been persistent. Systems theories acknowledge the role of others, yet at heart, these are still individual views of creativity focusing on the creative individual drawing upon the work of others rather than recognizing the mutually constitutive elements of social interactions across time and space. Focusing on the domain of music, the approach taken in this book falls into three sections: investigations of the people, processes, products, and places of collaborative creativity; in compositional thought and practice; explorations of the ways in which creative collaboration provides a means of crossing boundaries between disciplines such as music performance and musicology and studies of the emergence of creative thought and practice in educational contexts, including that of the composer and the classroom. The volume concludes with an extended chapter that reflects on the ways in which the studies reported advance understandings of creative thought and practice. The book provides new perspectives to our understandings of the role of collaborative thought and processes in creative work across the domain of music, including composition, musicology, performance, music education, and music psychology. Musical Times and Singing Class Circular, 1903. Walking with Krishna Dipal Parikh, 2012-04-24. Inspired by true-life events comes the story of a young Rutgers University student who had lost his memory after getting into a life-changing car crash. His life turned upside down as he could not remember anything from who he was to who his parents were, where he went to college, what he studied, his friends, girlfriend, and that he once had a passion for dance. After being diagnosed with Retrograde Amnesia, Dipal was basically starting over, rediscovering his own life and other new experiences almost like he was a child again in a 20-year-old's body. No one knew if Dipal would ever regain his memory. This is Dipal's journey in his own words as he rediscovers himself through family and friends, his lost passion for dance, with unfortunate lessons on how society can treat those they do not understand, all with a little help from the God within and the lessons of learning how to truly let go. Women of the
