We Need To Talk About Kevin Lionel Shriver:

We Need To Talk About Kevin Lionel Shriver, 2010-07-09 WINNER OF THE WOMEN S PRIZE FOR FICTION 2010 ONE MILLION COPIES SOLD Eva never really wanted to be a mother certainly not the mother of a boy named Kevin who murdered seven of his fellow high school students a cafeteria worker and a teacher who had tried to befriend him Now two years after her son s horrific rampage Eva comes to terms with her role as Kevin s mother in a series of startlingly direct correspondences with her absent husband Franklyn about their son s upbringing Fearing that her own shortcomings may have shaped what her son has become she confesses to a deep long standing ambivalence about motherhood How much is her fault In Lionel Shriver s hands this sensational chilling and memorable story of a woman who raised a monster becomes a metaphor for the larger tragedy the tragedy of a country where everything works nobody starves and anything can be bought but a sense of purpose We Need to Talk about Kevin Lionel Shriver, 2005 WINNER OF THE ORANGE PRIZE read more Interactive online message board now live visit here Reading group questions here but don t spoil the plot Read an extract Two years ago Eva Khatchadourian s son Kevin murdered seven of his fellow high school students a cafeteria worker and a popular algebra teacher Because he was only fifteen at the time of the killings he received a lenient sentence and is now in a prison for young offenders in upstate New York Telling the story of Kevin s upbringing Eva addresses herself to her estranged husband through a series of letters Fearing that her own shortcomings may have shaped what her son has become she confesses to a deep long standing ambivalence about both motherhood in general and Kevin in particular How much is her fault Lionel Shriver tells a compelling absorbing and resonant story while framing these horrifying tableaux of teenage carnage as metaphors for the larger tragedy the tragedy of a country where everything works nobody starves and anything can be bought but a sense of purpose We Need to Talk about Kevin by Lionel Shriver Kevin Brophy, 2007 The Death of the Poet N Quentin Woolf, 2014-04-04 John Knox falls passionately and irrevocably in love with Rachel McAllistair the first time they meet He interviews her for his radio show and afterwards when he tells her how impressive she was she hits him square on the jaw Undeterred he pursues her promising to love her and never to leave her This promise becomes his burden as her behaviour whirls out of control She is abusive and cruel And yet he stays Even when she does something so awful that his life is changed forever And that point on which his life turns leads him to an unexpected connection with a man who suffered a terrible injury in the first world war The Death of the Poet is a daringly honest transfixing story about being in thrall to someone being a victim and a protector and how early promise can turn into an utterly unrecognisable life An exploration of violence and what it means to be a man in the modern world it s controversial devastating and in a complicated way romantic too Edinburgh Companion to Atlantic Literary Studies Leslie Eckel, 2016-09-20 New and original collection of scholarly essays examining the literary complexities of the Atlantic world system This Companion offers a critical overview of the diverse and dynamic field of Atlantic literary studies with contributions by distinguished scholars on a series of topics that define the area The essays focus on literature and culture from first contact to the present exploring fruitful Atlantic connections across space and time across national cultures and embracing literature culture and society This research collection proposes that the analysis of literature and culture does not depend solely upon geographical setting to uncover textual meaning Instead it offers Atlantic connections based around migration race gender and sexuality ecologies and other significant ideological crossovers in the Atlantic World The result is an exciting new critical map written by leading international researchers of a lively and expanding field

Key Features Offers an introduction to the growing field of Atlantic literary studies by showcasing current work engaged in debate around historical cultural and literary issues in the Atlantic World Includes 26 newly commissioned scholarly essays by leading experts in Atlantic literary studies Fuses breadth of historical knowledge with depth of literary scholarship Considers the full range of intercultural encounters around and across the Atlantic Ocean

Wild Child Naomi Morgenstern, 2018-05-08 Exploring how the figure of the wild child in contemporary fiction grapples with contemporary cultural anxieties about reproductive ethics and the future of humanity In the eighteenth century Western philosophy positioned the figure of the child at the border between untamed nature and rational adulthood Contemporary cultural anxieties about the ethics and politics of reproductive choice and the crisis of parental responsibility have freighted this liminal figure with new meaning in twenty first century narratives In Wild Child Naomi Morgenstern explores depictions of children and their adult caregivers in extreme situations ranging from the violence of slavery and sexual captivity to accidental death mass murder torture and global apocalypse in such works as Toni Morrison's A Mercy Cormac McCarthy's The Road Lionel Shriver's We Need to Talk about Kevin Emma Donoghue's Room and Denis Villeneuve's film Prisoners Morgenstern shows how in such narratives wild children function as symptoms of new ethical crises and existential fears raised by transformations in the technology and politics of reproduction and by increased ethical questions about the very decision to reproduce In the face of an uncertain future that no longer confirms the confidence of patriarchal humanism such narratives displace or project present day apprehensions about maternal sacrifice and paternal protection onto the wildness of children in a series of hyperbolically violent scenes Urgent and engaging Wild Child offers the only extended consideration of how twenty first century fiction has begun to imagine the decision to reproduce and the ethical challenges of posthumanist parenting

Theaters of Trauma Richard Raubolt, 2008-07-11 This book is an unflinching and deeply personal rendering of the emotional turmoil encountered in healing from trauma that is both physical and spiritual The reader is invited inside the consulting room to witness the theaters of trauma where dramatic pain fear and despair are enacted side by side with courage honesty and resiliency This slim volume presents trauma recovery in a unique style that is both powerful and refreshingly free of psychological jargon Theaters of Trauma goes directly to the heart burning soul and drama of traumatic experiences The images created by penetrating prose will captivate and mesmerize the reader This book is a special gift to everyone people curious about trauma and its treatment by a master clinician therapists who want to learn

Childhood in the Contemporary English Novel Sandra Dinter, 2019-10-10 Since the 1980s novels about childhood for adults have been a booming genre within the contemporary British literary market Childhood in the Contemporary English Novel offers the first comprehensive study of this literary trend Assembling analyses of key works by Ian McEwan Doris Lessing P D James Nick Hornby Sarah Moss and Stephen Kelman and situating them in their cultural and political contexts Sandra Dinter uncovers both the reasons for the current popularity of such fiction and the theoretical shift that distinguishes it from earlier literary epochs The book's central argument is that the contemporary English novel draws on the constructivist paradigm shift that revolutionised the academic study of childhood several decades ago Contemporary works of fiction Dinter argues depart from the notion of childhood as a naturally given phase of life and examine the agent's interests and conflicts involved in its cultural production Dinter also considers the limits of this new theoretical impetus observing that authors and scholars alike even when they claim to conceive of childhood as a construct do not always give up on the idea of its natural core Accordingly this book reconstructs how the English novel between the 1980s and the 2010s oscillates between an acknowledgment of constructivism and an endorsement of childhood as the last irrevocable quintessence of humanity In doing so it successfully extends the literary and cultural history of childhood to the immediate present

Women's Fiction and Post-9/11 Contexts Peter Childs, Claire Colebrook, Sebastian Groes, 2014-10-21 9/11 is not simple a date on the calendar but marks a distinct historical threshold ushering in the war on terror various states of emergency a supposed clash of civilizations and the putative legitimization of counter democratic procedures ranging from extraordinary renditions to enhanced interrogation Perhaps no date since Virginia Woolf declared that on or about December 1910 human character changed has marked such a singular point in the perception of time identity and nature Women's writing has always been something of a counter canon offering modes of voice and point of view beyond that of the man of reason This collection of essays explores the two problems of what it means to write as a woman and what it means to write in the twenty first century

Crime Fiction Migration Christiana Gregoriou, 2017-07-27 Crime narratives form a large and central part of the modern cultural landscape This book explores the cognitive stylistic processing of prose and audiovisual fictional crime texts It also examines instances where such narratives find themselves through popular demand migrating meaning that they cross languages media formats and or cultures In doing so Crime Fiction Migration proposes a move from a monomodal to a multimodal approach to the study of crime fiction Examining original crime fiction works alongside their translations adaptations and remakings proves instrumental in understanding how various semiotic modes interact with one another The book analyses works such as We Need to Talk About Kevin The Killing trilogy and the reimaginings of plays such as Shear Madness and films such as Funny

Games Crime fiction is consistently popular and on the move witness the spate of detective series exported out of Scandinavia or the ever popular exporting of these shows from the USA This multimodal and semiotically aware analysis of global crime narratives expands the discipline and is key reading for students of linguistics criminology literature and film

Will Spook You For Real Christina Maria Huber,2018 Popular fiction can be more than feel good diversion Stories which are intended to entertain are uniquely suited to affect their recipients feelings or moods and tend to leave a more sustained impression than lectures or lists of facts It is hardly surprising therefore that story telling keeps on thriving in the 21st century with ever new media providing ever new space for narratives In Will Spook You For Real Huber examines a wide range of strategies used in fiction to trigger a specific emotion in the readers anxiety regarding the social constructs they live in and their specific positions within these constructs Can we trust our neighbours Can we rely on our governments What do big corporations have in mind And what happens if I cannot conform to the role which has been assigned to me

The Lost Child in Literature and Culture Mark Froud,2017-10-18 This book is an extensive study of the figure of the lost child in English speaking and European literature and culture It argues that the lost child figure is of profound importance for our society a symptom as well as a cause of deep trauma This trauma or void is a fundamental disruption of the structures that define us self history and even language This puts the figure of the child in context with previous research that the modern conception of a child was formed alongside modern conceptions of memory The book analyses the representation of the lost child through fairy tales historical oppression and in recent novels and films The book then studies the connection of the lost child figure with the uncanny and its centrality to language The book considers the lost child figure as an archetype on a metaphysical and philosophical level as well as cultural

The Imagination of Evil Mary Evans, 2011-10-27 From its growth in Europe in the nineteenth century detective fiction has developed into one of the most popular genres of literature and popular culture more widely In this monograph Mary Evans examines detective fiction and its complex relationship to the modern and to modernity She focuses on two key themes the moral relationship of detection and the detective to a particular social world and the attempt to restore and even improve the social world that has been threatened and fractured by a crime usually that of murder It is a characteristic of much detective fiction that the detective the pursuer is a social outsider this status creates a complex web of relationships between detective institutional life and dominant and subversive moralities Evans questions who and what the detective stands for and suggests that the answer challenges many of our assumptions about the relationship between various moralities in the modern world

Deception Ziyad Marar, 2014-12-05 Most of us think we are about 15 per cent cleverer nicer more attractive and better drivers than others think we are It seems deception begins at home After all the most convincing liars convince themselves first Sellers and buyers parents and children friends and lovers must conceal from each other the unutterable truth that they don't believe or want the same things In this book Ziyad Marar throws a revealing light on the many ways deception is woven into the texture of human life our wiring leaves us easily suckered by persuasive illusions while our contradictory desires for sex and honesty money and kindness for cake and losing weight force us to cook up self-serving stories We manage flattering impressions with effortless skill while pretending our sins and self-indulgences are beyond our control Drawing on insights from philosophy psychology and literature Marar explores the implications for living well in the shadow of Kant's humbling thought that out of the crooked timber of humanity no straight thing was ever made Beyond the Frustrated Self

Barbara Dowds, 2018-05-11 This book foregrounds the life struggles of an individual Brenda in such a way that argument and theoretical exploration arise organically out of experience The frustration of the title is traced to avoidant attachment pretending not to need others In Brenda this is associated with a body energy pattern that is both over-charged and over-contained generating a self-frustrating process Such a repressive defence works against her so that she experiences her life as dry soulless and uncreative A variety of existential difficulties are traced to how such core developmental issues interact with our socio-cultural environment A way forward is outlined play and finding meaning are identified as transformational hubs that bring wellbeing into Brenda's life and restore her capacity for experiencing
