The Dark Fantastic Ebony Elizabeth Thomas, 2020-09-22 Winner 2022 Children's Literature Association Book Award given by the Children's Literature Association Winner 2020 World Fantasy Awards Winner 2020 British Fantasy Awards Nonfiction Finalist Creative Nonfiction IGNYTE Award given by FIYACON for BIPOC in Speculative Fiction Reveals the diversity crisis in children's and young adult media as not only a lack of representation but a lack of imagination Stories provide portals into other worlds both real and imagined The promise of escape draws people from all backgrounds to speculative fiction but when people of color seek passageways into the fantastic the doors are often barred This problem lies not only with children's publishing but also with the television and film executives tasked with adapting these stories into a visual world When characters of color do appear they are often marginalized or subjected to violence reinforcing for audiences that not all lives matter The Dark

Fantastic is an engaging and provocative exploration of race in popular youth and young adult speculative fiction Grounded in her experiences as YA novelist fanfiction writer and scholar of education Thomas considers four black girl protagonists from some of the most popular stories of the early 21st century Bonnie Bennett from the CW's The Vampire Diaries Rue from Suzanne Collins's The Hunger Games Gwen from the BBC's Merlin and Angelina Johnson from J K Rowling's Harry Potter Analyzing their narratives and audience reactions to them reveals how these characters mirror the violence against black and brown people in our own world In response Thomas uncovers and builds upon a tradition of fantasy and radical imagination in Black feminism and Afrofuturism to reveal new possibilities Through fanfiction and other modes of counter storytelling young people of color have reinvisioned fantastic worlds that reflect their own experiences their own lives As Thomas powerfully asserts we dark girls deserve more because we are more

Entertaining Judgment Greg Garrett, 2015 Nowadays references to the afterlife angels strumming harps demons brandishing pitchforks God enthroned on heavenly clouds are more often encountered in New Yorker cartoons than in serious Christian theological reflection Speculation about death and its sequel seems to embarrass many theologians however as Greg Garrett shows in Entertaining Judgment popular culture in the U S has found rich ground for creative expression in the search for answers to the question What lies in store for us after we die The lyrics of Madonna's Lonely Boys and Sean Combs the plotlines of TV's Lost South Park and The Walking Dead the implied theology in films such as The Dark Knight Ghost and Field of Dreams the heavenly half light of Thomas Kinkadee's popular paintings the ghosts shades and after life way stations in Harry Potter and the characters situations and locations in the Hunger Games saga all speak to our hopes and fears about what comes next In a rich survey of literature and popular media Garrett compares cultural accounts of death and the afterlife with those found in scripture Denizens of the imagined afterlife whether in heaven hell on earth or in purgatory speak to what awaits us at once shaping and reflecting our deeply held if often somewhat nebulous beliefs They show us what rewards and punishments we might expect offer us divine assistance and even diabolically attack us Ultimately we are drawn to these stories of heaven hell and purgatory and to stories about death and the undead not only because they entertain us but because they help us to create meaning and to learn about ourselves our world and perhaps the next world Garrett s deft analysis sheds new light on what popular culture can tell us about the startlingly sharp divide between what modern people profess to believe and what they truly hope and expect to find after death and how they use those stories to help them understand this life
