Godard and the Essay Film Rick Warner, 2018-07-15 Godard and the Essay Film offers a history and analysis of the essay film one of the most significant forms of intellectual filmmaking since the end of World War II Warner incisively reconsiders the defining traits and legacies of this still evolving genre through a groundbreaking examination of the vast and formidable oeuvre of Jean Luc Godard The essay film has often been understood by scholars as an eccentric development within documentary but Warner shows how an essayistic process of thinking can materialize just as potently within narrative fiction films through self critical investigations into the aesthetic political and philosophical resources of the medium Studying examples by Godard and other directors such as Orson Welles Chris Marker Agnès Varda and Harun Farocki Warner elaborates a fresh account of essayistic reflection that turns on the imaginative constructive role of the viewer Through fine grained analyses this book contributes the most nuanced description yet of the relational interface between viewer and screen in the context of the essay film Shedding new light on Godard's work from the 1960s to the 2010s in film television video and digital stereoscopy Warner distills an understanding of essayistic cinema as a shared exercise of critical rumination and perceptual discovery

Van Gogh in Popular Culture Lynnette Porter, 2015-12-11 Vincent van Gogh continues to fascinate more than a century after his death in 1890 Yet how much of what is commonly known about this world renowned artist is accurate Though he left thousands of works and a trove of letters the definitive Van Gogh remains elusive Was he a madman who painted his greatest pieces in a passionate fury or a lifelong student of art literature and science who carefully planned each composition Was he a loner dedicated only to his craft or an active collaborator with his contemporaries Why is he best known for self mutilation and The Starry Night This book has biographers scriptwriters lyricists actors museum curators and tour guides among others presenting diverse interpretations of his life and work creating a mythic persona that may in fact help us in the search for the real Van Gogh The Vikings on Film Kevin J. The Cinema of Catherine Breillat Sophie Bélot, 2017-08-28 In The Cinema of Catherine Breillat Bélot offers a detailed analysis of Breillat's past and recent films Breillat is one of the most internationally renowned French women filmmakers whose notoriety is built on her explicit representation of women's sexuality Most of her films rely on a female protagonist's personal and intimate search of her self characterised by her sexual journey Facing censorship and controversy Breillat's films do not easily fit classification and place the viewer into an uncomfortable position This study looks at Breillat as an independent cinema auteur entertaining a close relation with her films by exploring and positing women from adolescence to adulthood as sexual beings reflecting her films identity emanating from Breillat's personal or intimate scenes

Emotion and the Structure of Narrative Film Ed S. Tan, 2013-10-16 Introduced one hundred years ago film has since become part of our lives For the past century however the experience offered by fiction films has remained a mystery Questions such as why adult viewers cry and shiver and why they care at all about fictional characters while aware that they contemplate an entirely staged scene are still unresolved In addition it is unknown why spectators find some film experiences entertaining that have a clearly aversive nature outside the cinema These and other questions make the psychological status of emotions allegedly induced by the fiction film highly problematic Earlier attempts to answer these questions have been limited to a few genre studies In recent years film criticism and the theory of film structure have made use of psychoanalytic concepts which have proven insufficient in accounting for the diversity of film induced affect In contrast academic psychology during the century of its existence has made extensive study of emotional responses provoked by viewing fiction film but has taken the role of film as a natural stimulus completely for granted The present volume bridges the gap between critical theories of film on the one hand and recent psychological theory and research of human emotion on the other in an attempt to explain the emotions provoked by fiction film This book integrates insights on the narrative structure of fiction film including its themes plot structure and characters with recent knowledge on the cognitive processing of natural events and narrative and person information It develops a theoretical framework for systematically describing emotion in the film viewer The question whether or not film produces genuine emotion is answered by comparing affect in the viewer with emotion in the real world experienced by persons witnessing events that have personal significance to them Current understanding of the psychology of emotions provides the basis for identifying critical features of the fiction film that trigger the general emotion system Individual emotions are classified according to their position in the affect structure of a film a larger system of emotions produced by one particular film as a whole Along the way a series of problematic issues is dealt with notably the reality of the emotional stimulus in film the identification of the viewer with protagonists on screen and the necessity of the viewer's cooperation in arriving at a genuine emotion Finally it is argued that film produced emotions are genuine emotions in response to an artificial stimulus Film can be regarded as a fine tuned machine for a continuous stream of emotions that are entertaining after all The work paves the way for understanding and in principle predicting emotions in the film viewer using existing psychological instruments of investigation Dealing with the problems of film induced affect and rendering them accessible to formal modeling and experimental method serves a wider interest of understanding aesthetic emotion the feelings that man made products and especially works of art can evoke in the beholder Anatomy of Sound Jacob Smith, Neil

Verma, 2016-07-19 This collection of essays examines one of the most important yet understudied media authors of all time Norman Corwin using him as a critical lens to consider the history of multimedia authorship particularly in the realm of sound Known for seven decades as the poet laureate of radio Corwin is most famous for his radio dramas which reached tens of millions of listeners around the world and contributed to radio drama's success as a mass media form in the 1930s and 1940s But Corwin was a pioneer in multiple media including cinema theater TV public service broadcasting journalism and even cantata In each of these areas Corwin had a distinctive approach to sonic aesthetics and mastery of multiple aspects of media production relying in part on his inventive atmospheric effects in the studio both prerecorded and more impressively live in real time From the front lines of World War II to his role as Chief of Special Projects for United Nations Radio and his influence on media today the political and social aspect of Corwin's work is woven into these essays With a foreword by Michele Hilmes and contributions from Thomas Doherty Mary Ann Watson Shawn VanCour David Ossman and others this volume cements Corwin's reputation as perhaps the greatest writer in the history of radio while also showing that his long career is a neglected model of multimedia authorship Provided by publisher The Films of Akira Kurosawa Donald

Richie,1998 Film scholars and enthusiasts will welcome this new edition of Donald Richie's incomparable study last updated in 1984 The Method section filmography and bibliography contain new information and Richie has added chapters on Ran Dreams Rhapsody in August and Madadayo Kurosawa's films display an extraordinary breadth and an astonishing strength from the philosophic and sexual complexity of Rashomon to the moral dedication of Ikiru from the naked violence of Seven Samurai to the savage comedy of Yojimbo from the terror filled feudalism of Throne of Blood to the piercing wit of Sanjuro Running through all Kurosawa's work is a tough humane and profoundly ethical concern for the painful beautiful frequently ridiculous ambiguities of human life

Crime Scenery in Postwar Film and Photography Henrik Gustafsson,2019-05-24 This book offers a rare and innovative consideration of an enduring tendency in postwar art to explore places devoid of human agents in the wake of violent encounters To see the scenery together with the crime elicits a double interrogation not merely of a physical site but also of its formation as an aesthetic artefact and ultimately of our own acts of looking and imagining Closely engaging with a vast array of works made by artists filmmakers and photographers each who has forged a distinct vantage point on the aftermath of crime and conflict the study selectively maps the afterlife of landscape in search of the political and ethical agency of the image By way of a thoroughly interdisciplinary approach Crime Scenery in Postwar Film and Photography brings landscape studies into close dialogue with contemporary theory by paying sustained attention to how the gesture of retracing past events facilitates new configurations of the present and future

Secularism, Theology and Islam Jennifer Elisa Veninga,2014-03-27 Secularism Theology and Islam offers a uniquely theological analysis of the historic Danish cartoon crisis of 2005 2006 in which the publication of twelve images of the Prophet Muhammad in the Danish newspaper Jyllands Posten ignited violent global protests The crisis represents a politically culturally and religiously important event of the early 21st century and Jennifer Veninga explores the important question of why the cartoons were published in Denmark when they were and why this matters to the larger global community The book outlines three main interpretations of the affair as they were framed by international news media as an issue exclusively about freedom of speech as related to a clash of civilizations or exclusively as a matter of international politics Whilst these are important to note the author argues that the crisis was far more complex than any of these interpretations suggest and argues that an alternative methodology can be found in philosopher Charles Taylor's concept of the social imaginary which refers to the shared norms expectations images and narratives of a community or nation that inform many of its shared practices Describing the Danish social imaginary as a paradox of Christianity and secularism Veninga explains why the new presence of Islam has been perceived as such a threat to Danish identity The author also maintains that despite tendencies toward exclusion the Danish imaginary also supports a move toward authentic religious pluralism Understanding the Danish cartoon crisis is important for any community struggling with new religious diversity especially those with largely secular identities Furthermore the method used to examine the crisis provides a theological analytical framework applicable to a wide variety of contemporary social and political movements and issues
