

Monky

Watch a monky hang from a tree. Watch a monkey run away from its enemy.
See a monkey watching a snake go by. Feel a monkey's soft furry fur. See a monkey throw fruits at people.
Watch a monkey eat food.
See a monkey make noise. All the things I told you a day, a monkey makes me feel like I'm really there.

Before Environmental Law Benjamin J Richardson, 2023-10-05 This landmark open access book unveils the history of defending Australia's natural environment and examines the subject's legal and political contexts from the birth of the nation in 1901 until the advent of the so-called modern era of environmental regulation in the late 1960s It rejects the mythology that Australia lacked environmental law before the late 1960s revealing how many of today's environmental laws from pollution control to nature conservation emerged from precedents or events much earlier in the 20th century This history however reveals a discrepancy between lawmakers' greater efficacy to exploit rather than protect the environment a discrepancy that grew as nature's backlash intensified in a rapidly degrading continent colonised to build the Australian nation In exploring these dynamics the book offers a rich tapestry of case studies illustrated with historic photographs that show the origins of Australia's environmental laws and how they borrowed from international precedents or furnished lessons for other nations Through its multi-disciplinary enquiry the book offers scholars
