House of Commons - Business, Innovation and Skills Committee: Open Access - HC 99-I Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Business, Innovation and Skills Committee,2013-09-10 The Government s

commitment to increasing access to published research findings and its desire to achieve full open access are welcomed in this report from the Business Innovation and Skills Committee. However, whilst Gold open access, where authors publish their articles in an open access journal that provides free immediate open access to all of its articles on the publisher's website, is a desirable ultimate goal, focusing on it during the transition to a fully open access world is a mistake. The Government and Research Council UK should reconsider their preference for Gold open access during the five year transition period and give due regard to the evidence of the vital role that Green open access and repositories have to play as the UK moves towards full open access. Authors opting for Green open access publish in any subscription journal and then make their peer reviewed final draft freely accessible online by self archiving or depositing the article in a repository, either institutional or disciplinary, upon acceptance for publication. Other recommendations include promotion of standardisation and compliance across subject and institutional repositories, mitigation against the impact on universities of paying Article Processing Charges out of their own reserves, introduce a reduced VAT rate for e journals, non disclosure clauses should not be used in publishing contracts that include the use of public funds. BIS must review its consultation processes to ensure that lessons are learned from the lack of involvement of businesses, particularly SMEs, in the formation of open access policy.

Managing Innovation Joe Tidd, John R. Bessant, 2018-06-05. Managing Innovation is the bestselling text for graduate and undergraduate students and a classic in the field. Emphasizing practical evidence based tools and resources, this title provides students with the knowledge base to successfully manage innovation, technology and new product development. The holistic approach addresses the interplay between the market, technology and the organization while relating the unique skill set required to manage innovation and innovation processes. The sixth edition of Managing Innovation continues to include the popular Innovation in Action sections in each chapter which are now newly titled Case Studies and also features a number of new cases, updated and new research notes and references and links to videos, audio interviews, activities and case studies. The sixth edition also features new material on emerging innovation themes including business model innovation, user innovation, crowd sourcing, creativity, entrepreneurship, service innovation, public services and more. The rapid pace of the field's evolution has brought an increase in multi disciplinary approaches and skills while expanding the available tool kit and pushing the boundaries of possibility forward. This text provides expert navigation through the abundance of new data, new methods, new concepts and approaches but it is designed to encourage and support tailored experimentation, not replace it. Equipped with a strong foundation and a productive innovation management mindset, today's students will be equipped to bring about the era's next great advances.

Open Innovation and Business Success Monika Gawarzynska, 2010-02. Innovation is a crucial topic in the study of economics, business, technology, sociology and engineering.
