RE: Your Case Number Here

Child Visitation Rights, Violation Notice

Dear _____:

The purpose of this Certified Letter is to remind you of the visitation provisions in our divorce decree or other court order. According to the divorce decree or other court order, visitation was granted as follows: _____
_____. To date, you have not complied with these child visitation provisions.

It is important for you to support the court's efforts to separate the children and visitation issues, from the other issues we may have between ourselves. Your continued practice of denying visitation is a form of Parental Alienation Syndrome (PAS), and this is not in the best interest of our child!

If I have not heard from you in writing within 20 days from the date of this letter, to commit to the child visitation rights as ordered by the court, I will be compelled to go into court and have you held in contempt.

Spending more time and money on this will not be to anyone's benefit. However, we both have responsibilities and legal rights as parents towards our child, so I will take this step if forced to by your non-compliance.

I hope this letter will help soften your judgment and permit the court ordered child visitations to happen as required by law.

Best regards,

Non-Custodial Parent

cc
Court Authority for the above statements

Letters of the Law Sora Y. Han, 2015-05-05 One of the hallmark features of the post civil rights United States is the reign of colorblindness over national conversations about race and law But how precisely should we understand this notion of colorblindness in the face of enduring racial hierarchy in American society In Letters of the Law Sora Y Han argues that colorblindness is a foundational fantasy of law that not only informs individual and collective ideas of race but also structures the imaginative capacities of American legal interpretation Han develops a critique of colorblindness by deconstructing the law's central doctrines on due process citizenship equality punishment and individual liberty in order to expose how racial slavery and the ongoing struggle for abolition continue to haunt the law's reliance on the fantasy of colorblindness Letters of the Law provides highly original readings of iconic Supreme Court cases on racial inequality spanning Japanese internment to affirmative action policing to prisoner rights Jim Crow segregation to sexual freedom Han's analysis provides readers with new perspectives on many urgent social issues of our time including mass incarceration educational segregation state intrusions on privacy and neoliberal investments in citizenship But more importantly Han compels readers to reconsider how the diverse legacies of civil rights reform archived in American law might be rewritten as a heterogeneous practice of black freedom struggle
