

Feasibility Study on Introducing Trolleybus System in Hong Kong

INTRODUCTION

The consultancy study on the feasibility of introducing trolleybus system in Hong Kong (the Study) has been completed. This paper informs members of the key findings of the Study and the next steps to be taken by the Administration.

BACKGROUND

2. The Study was commissioned by Transport Department in 2000. The scope of the Study covers the following –

- (i) operational feasibility;
- (ii) design and operational features;
- (iii) financial viability;
- (iv) environmental implications as compared with diesel bus operation;
- (v) broad regulatory, institutional and legislative framework; and
- (vi) priority areas for further work or studies.

3. As part of the Study, the consultant has conducted three case studies to assess the operational and financial feasibility and the environmental implications of operating trolleybuses as compared with diesel buses in different operating environments in Hong Kong. The selected areas for the case studies are –

- (i) the Central-Wan Chai Corridor which is a built up area with high traffic;
- (ii) Aberdeen which is an existing built-up area with medium traffic; and
- (iii) South East Kowloon Development (SEKD) which is a new development area.

4. The key findings and proposals of the Study are summarised in paragraphs 5-18 below.
