North Carolina English, 1861-1865 Michael E. Ellis,2024-01-12 In North Carolina English 1861 1865 Michael E Ellis offers an Oxford English Dictionary like take on regional language based on more than two thousand letters and diaries composed by North Carolinians during the Civil War These documents are part of a larger project the Corpus of American Civil War Letters CACWL aimed at locating photographing and transcribing letters written during the period from all parts of the country With little formal education the correspondents were men and women who wrote by ear often reproducing their spoken language through unconventional spellings and grammatical forms

as well as regional or archaic words and usages The core of the book is an alphabetically arranged glossary of words and expressions characteristic of mid nineteenth century North Carolina each containing excerpts from the letters themselves to illustrate meaning and usage While the majority of the writers were Confederate soldiers and their family members the collection also includes letters from slaves former slaves and African Americans from North Carolina serving in the Union Army The soldiers letters rarely contain details about battles except to list the names of relatives or neighbors among the killed or wounded After a battle a soldier might simply write the Like of ded men an horses I never saw before or we hav lost a heep of men and kild a heep of yankeys As Joel Howard of Lincoln County wrote home in June 1863 I have bin in the ware and Saw the ware and heard tell of the ware till I have got tired of it if I Could get clear of this ware I neve r want to Read of A nother Food is perhaps the most common topic followed by illness Numerous terms relate to farming clothing religion and the effects of the war itself as well as entries for expressions that have long since disappeared from American English in the gants on the goose and up the spout In addition to the glossary Ellis offers an extensive overview of North Carolina English of the period delves into the social background of the letter writers and provides invaluable guidance to the ways in which Civil War letters should be read A unique window into a largely neglected corner of our extraordinarily rich and regionally distinct language this volume will prove an indispensable reference for scholars and students seeking to reconstruct the world of the common Civil War soldier

Empire of Honour J. E. Lendon, 2001 J. E. Lendon offers a new interpretation of how the Roman empire worked in the first four centuries AD A despotism rooted in force and fear enjoyed widespread support among the ruling classes of the provinces on the basis of an aristocratic culture of honour shared by rulers and ruled The competitive Roman and Greek aristocrats of the empire conceived of their relative standing in terms of public esteem or honour and conceived of their cities toward which they felt a warm patriotism as entities locked in a parallel struggle for primacy in honour over rivals Emperors and provincial governors exploited these rivalries to gain the indispensable co-operation of local magnates by granting honours to individuals and their cities Since rulers strove for honour as well their subjects manipulated them with honours in their turn Honour whose workings are also traced in the Roman army served as a way of talking and thinking about Roman government it was both a species of power and a way connived in by rulers and ruled of concealing the terrible realities of imperial rule Book Cover

May We Be Spared to Meet on Earth Russell A. Potter, Regina Koellner, Peter Carney, Mary Williamson, 2022-09-05

May We Be Spared to Meet on Earth is a privileged glimpse into the private correspondence of the officers and sailors who set out in May 1845 on the Erebus and Terror for Sir John Franklin's fateful expedition to the Arctic The letters of the crew and their correspondents begin with the journey's inception and early planning going on to recount the ship's departure from the river Thames their progress up the eastern coast of Great Britain to Stromness in Orkney and the crew's exploits as far as the Whalefish Islands off the western coast of Greenland from where the ship forever departed the society that sent them forth As the realization dawned that something was amiss heartfelt letters to the missing were sent with search expeditions those letters returned unread tell poignant stories of hope Assembled completely and conclusively from extensive archival research including in far flung family and private collections the correspondence allows the reader to peer over the shoulders of these men to experience their excitement and anticipation their foolhardiness and their fears The Franklin expedition continues to excite enthusiasts and scholars worldwide May We Be Spared to Meet on Earth provides new insights into the personalities of those on board the significance of the voyage as they saw it and the dawning awareness of the possibility that they would never return to British shores or their families International Relations in the Ancient Near East M.
