Paul and First-Century Letter Writing E. Randolph Richards,2025-07-29 Traditional Christian art depicts Paul the letter writer pen in hand attentive to the Spirit We might think we know better and imagine him pacing in agitation as he rapidly dictates to a secretary his letter to the Galatians But in reality neither of these pictures is accurate In Paul s day producing a letter was a time consuming and costly business And we have ample resources from the ancient world to piece together what it must have been like A secretary was usually part of the picture But so were notes drafts corrections and careful rewrites not to speak of scratchy pens sooty ink and coarse papyrus Interestingly there is evidence that Paul involved his missionary team in the writing of letters And then came the delivery over land and sea the reading and circulation as well as the epistolary afterlife of copying collecting and storing E Randolph Richards has extensively studied ancient letter writing and secretaries Informed by the historical evidence and with a sharp eye for telltale clues in Paul s letters he takes us into this world and places us on the scene with Paul the letter writer What first appears to be just a study of secretaries and stationery turns out to be an intriguing glimpse of Paul the letter writer that overthrows our preconceptions and offers a new perspective on how this important portion of Christian Scripture came to be

The Role of Letter-Speech Sound Integration in Typical and Atypical Reading Development Jurgen Tijms, Silvia Brem, Gorka Fraga González, Iliana I. Karipidis, 2020-07-24 Fluency is the quintessence of effective reading To obtain socio economic success fluent reading is of primordial importance and reading is considered a crucial marker of an individual s life course Approximately 5% of children are affected by developmental dyslexia exhibiting inaccurate word recognition spelling phonological decoding and most importantly severely dysfluent reading which remains as their most characterizing and persistent deficit Unable to attain society s literacy demands individuals with dyslexia are at severe risk for adverse academic economic and psychosocial consequences Recently it has been posed that the development of automatic letter speech sound LSS integration is critical in the acquisition of fluent reading skills and in particular that a failure to develop automatic LSS integration results in an impairment of reading fluency In support neurocognitive research has suggested that the development of automatized processing of LSS associations is an essential step in the formation of a functional neural network for reading Furthermore both neurocognitive and behavioural studies have suggested a less efficient LSS integration in children with dyslexia than in typical readers Finally results from intervention studies have suggested that training LSS might be a promising approach to ameliorate dysfluent reading in children with dyslexia Nonetheless there is still a considerable gap of knowledge in our understanding of the mechanisms by which learning LSS associations relate to dys fluent reading

Polnariev, 2016-06-10 Academic and Student Affairs in Collaboration provides a comprehensive and evidenced based understanding of the partnerships necessary to achieve an institutional culture devoted to student success Chapter authors explore how to design implement and assess collaborative efforts between student and academic affairs in support of increased student success This book provides best practices for fostering and enhancing campus dialogue career development pathways academic support services and other important initiatives to increase retention and learning outcomes improve motivation and goal attainment and enhance institutional accountability This book is a must read for scholars faculty leaders and practitioners in Student Affairs and Higher Education interested in achieving student success at their universities and colleges Managing Managed Care Michael C. Roberts, Linda K. Hurley, 2012-11-19 The introduction of the concept of managed care into mental and physical health care appears to be a juggernaut of unparalleled impact The two extremes of thought about this impact are 1 that managed care is a villainous foe to be resisted in order to bring back the earlier halcyon years of independence in practice decisions with greater reimbursement for psychologists services or 2 that managed care is a laudatory attempt to restrain health care costs that are out of control and spiraling upward by rooting out mismanagement and reversing financial incentives to provide unnecessary care The former view calls managed health care such names as mangled care and distributes bumper stickers stating Just Say No to HMOs The latter view points to the slowdown of increases in health care expenditures and the enhancement of health care affordability and appropriateness for greater numbers of persons resulting from managed care cost containment strategies and service review procedures Mental or behavioral health care has been as strongly impacted as medical care under managed care Where managed care has forced practitioners attention to validated procedures and to examining previous wasteful practices we applaud the movement Where managed care has had adverse impact we think there needs to be greater public legal and regulatory attention to its excesses and abuses
