

ENGLISH LANGUAGE AND LINGUISTICS

My interest in linguistics has grown from my first year of sixth form when I took a course in English Language. During this course, I studied the work of Trudgill. I found this particularly interesting as I enjoyed looking at how and why the social class of a person affects how they speak. I also found the gender and language issues relating to how males and females approach language in a different manner very interesting. I have a general interest in sociology and look forward to combining this with my interests in linguistics.

Last summer I spent a month in Spain where I worked as a teaching assistant in a local school. Working in a foreign country allowed me to experience life where I did not completely understand the language used around me. It became clear that language is an essential tool used everyday for communication. This opportunity allowed me to see language being used in different environments and I now want to understand how languages are used and how they work.

During my time at school I have been actively involved with the netball team, working my way to becoming captain last year. Being involved in the team has allowed me to develop my communication and time-management skills, along with motivating the rest of my team. I really enjoy volunteering and once a week I help younger students to learn Spanish. After my undergraduate degree I plan to study a PGCE as I would like to become a secondary school teacher of Spanish. I believe that volunteering will allow me to learn skills which will help me with this career path.

I have also been the Managing Director of a Young Enterprise company which won two awards for quality and best product at the local awards evening. Our company has also been selected to attend the regional awards later this month. From this interesting experience I learnt a lot about how the real world works and I worked incredibly hard to achieve my highest potential and compete successfully.

As well as these school organised activities, I also work in the local supermarket. I have to relate to the customers and assist them in a variety of ways. I feel this has boosted my confidence and improved my inter-personal skills both of which I think will help me in the transition from sixth form to university. I believe that studying linguistics at university will expand my knowledge of language, which I know will be essential in my future career. I look forward to setting myself new challenges and building upon my existing experience, which will hopefully help me to achieve my ambition of becoming a successful teacher.

Strengths

- This statement shows that the student has put thought into their long-term career goal. Although this is not essential and often not possible, it does demonstrate focused thought.
- This student draws attention to the skills she has developed through being involved in her activities (hockey, Young Enterprise, part-time job), which is effective as the skills she mentions will be useful at university.

Weaknesses

- This student has used the words 'interest'/'interesting' five times in the first paragraph. It is essential, especially for a subject like English Language, to demonstrate a wide vocabulary.
- More could have been made of her Spanish skills; it is important not to under sell yourself.

in Education Anthony Mann, Julian Stanley, Louise Archer, 2014-05-30 This collection focuses on employer engagement in education: how it is delivered and the differentiated impact it has on young people in their progression through schooling and higher education into the labour market. The focus is not narrowly on vocational or technical education or work-related learning but on how employer engagement (eg work experience, internships, careers education, workplace visits, mentoring, enterprise education, etc) influences the experiences and outcomes of the broad range of young people across mainstream academic learning programmes. The essays explore the different ways in which education can support or constrain social mobility and, in particular, how employer engagement in education can have significant impact upon social mobility, both positive and negative. Leading international contributors examine issues surrounding employer engagement and social mobility: conceptualisations of employer engagement; trends in social mobility; employer engagement and social class; access and management of work experience; social capital and aspiration; access to employment. The book makes employer engagement an innovative focus in relation to the well-established fields of social mobility and school-to-work transition. By examining what difference employer engagement makes the essays raise questions about conventional models and show how research drawing on different fields and disciplines can be brought together to provide a more coherent and convincing account Building on new theorisations and combining existing and new data the collection offers a systematic exploration of the influence of socio economic status on school to work transitions and addresses how educational policy can shape more efficient labour market outcomes In doing so it draws on and speaks to existing literature which has considered such questions from the perspectives of gender ethnicity and social disadvantage

Widening Participation in Higher Education Great Britain. National Audit Office, 2008 Some progress is being made in encouraging under represented groups to continue into higher education but particular sections of society remain significantly under represented and too little is known about the link between measures taken by institutions and any improvements in access The attainment of qualifications at secondary school is the principal reason for the difference in participation rates but social class remains a strong determinant of higher education participation Women are better represented than men and those from non white ethnic groups are better represented than white people The report finds that white people from lower socio economic groups are the most under represented group in higher education institutions There are also significant variations between academic institutions in how good they are at widening participation In 2006 07 one sixth of institutions made less progress than expected in recruiting students from areas with low participation Those that became universities post 1992 generally do better than the Russell Group universities an association of 20 self selected major research intensive institutions Incomplete data on student background hinders accurate assessment of which groups are under represented There is insufficient information about the full range of activities aimed at widening participation making it difficult to identify which activities are most effective Higher education is not always provided in ways that make it accessible to individuals from under represented groups Some students and potential students have limited understanding of the different types of financial support available to them The Department for Innovation Universities and Skills should lead efforts to create a comprehensive and accessible source of information to support potential applicants from under represented groups
