 Jane C. Desmond,2016-08-18 The number of ways in which humans interact with animals is almost incalculable From beloved household pets to the steak on our dinner tables the fur in our closets to the Babar books on our shelves taxidermy exhibits to local zoos humans have complex deep and dependent relationships with the animals in our ecosystems In Displaying Death and Animating Life Jane C Desmond puts those human animal relationships under a multidisciplinary lens focusing on the less obvious and revealing the individualities and subjectivities of the real animals in our everyday lives Desmond a pioneer in the field of animal studies builds the book on a number of case studies She conducts research on site at major museums taxidermy conventions pet cemeteries and even at a professional conference for writers of obituaries She goes behind the scenes at zoos wildlife clinics and meetings of pet cemetery professionals We journey with her as she meets Kanzi the bonobo artist and a host of other animal artists all of whom are preparing their artwork for auction Throughout Desmond moves from a consideration of the visual display of unindividuated animals to mourning for known animals and finally to the marketing of artwork by individual animals The first book in the new Animal Lives series Displaying Death and Animating Life is a landmark study bridging disciplines and reaching across divisions from the humanities and social sciences to chart new territories of investigation Unpalatable Carrie Helms Tippen,2025-01-15 The cookbook genre is highly conventional with an orientation toward celebration and success From glossy photographs to heartwarming stories and adjective rich ingredient lists the cookbook tradition primes readers for pleasure Yet the overarching narrative of the region is often one of pain loss privation exploitation poverty and suffering of various kinds While some cookbook writers go to great lengths to avoid reminding readers of this painful past others invoke that pain as a marker of southern authenticity Still others use stories of southern suffering as an opportunity to make space for reconciliation reparation or apology for past wrongs In Unpalatable Stories of Pain and Pleasure in Southern Cookbooks author Carrie Helms Tippen attempts to understand the unique rhetorical situation of the southern cookbook as it negotiates a tension between the expectations of the genre and the prevailing metanarratives of the southern experience one focused on pleasure and the other rooted in pain Through an analysis of commercially published southern cookbooks from the 1990s to the present Tippen examines the range of rhetorical purposes and strategies writers have employed some of which undermine the reality of a painful past and cause harm or violence and others which serve as tools for truth and reconciliation The World of Obituaries Mushira
