Whiteness and White Privilege in Psychotherapy Andrea Dottolo, Ellyn Kaschak, 2018-02-02 This unprecedented interdisciplinary collection focuses on gender whiteness and white privilege and sheds light on this understudied subject matter in the context of clinical psychology in both theories and applications Psychologists especially therapists are often trained to look for issues that are not readily visible cannot be spoken and that are commonly taken for granted Feminist and multi cultural researchers and practitioners further seek to expose the power structures that benefit them or that unfairly advantage some groups over others Whiteness has been investigated by sociologists and critical race theorists but has been largely overlooked by psychologists and psychotherapists even those who deal with feminist and multi cultural issues This volume explores the ways in which gender whiteness and white privilege intersect in the therapy room bringing to light that which is often unseen and thus unnamed while examining issues of epistemology theory supervision and practice in feminist therapies The various contributions encompass theory history empirical research personal reflections and practical teaching strategies for the classroom The authors remind us that whiteness and other forms of privilege are situated among multiple other forces structures identities and experiences and cannot be examined alone without context This book was originally published as a special issue of Women Therapy

A Rhetoric of Reflection Kathleen Yancey, 2016-08-15 Reflection in writing studies is now entering a third generation Dating from the

1970s the first generation of reflection focused on identifying and describing internal cognitive processes assumed to be part of composing The second generation operating in both classroom and assessment scenes in the 1990s developed mechanisms for externalizing reflection making it visible and thus explicitly available to help writers Now a third generation of work in reflection is emerging As mapped by the contributors to A Rhetoric of Reflection this iteration of research and practice is taking up new questions in new sites of activity and with new theories It comprises attention to transfer of writing knowledge and practice teaching and assessment portfolios linguistic and cultural difference and various media including print and digital It conceptualizes conversation as a primary reflective medium both inside and outside the classroom and for individuals and collectives and articulates the role that different genres play in hosting reflection Perhaps most important in the work of this third generation is the identification and increasing appreciation of the epistemic value of reflection of its ability to help make new meanings and of its rhetorical power for both scholars and students Contributors Anne Beaufort Kara Taczak Liane Robertson Michael Neal Heather Ostman Cathy Leaker Bruce Horner Asao B Inoue Tyler Richmond J Elizabeth Clark Naomi Silver Christina Russell McDonald Pamela Flash Kevin Roozen Jeff Sommers Doug Hesse Using Reflection and Metacognition to Improve Student Learning Naomi Silver, Matthew Kaplan, Danielle LaVaque-Manty, Deborah Meizlish, 2023-07-03 Research has identified the importance of helping students develop the ability to monitor their own comprehension and to make their thinking processes explicit and indeed demonstrates that metacognitive teaching strategies greatly improve student engagement with course material This book by presenting principles that teachers in higher education can put into practice in their own classrooms explains how to lay the ground for this engagement and help students become self regulated learners actively employing metacognitive and reflective strategies in their education Key elements include embedding metacognitive instruction in the content matter being explicit about the usefulness of metacognitive activities to provide the incentive for students to commit to the extra effort as well as following through consistently Recognizing that few teachers have a deep understanding of metacognition and how it functions and still fewer have developed methods for integrating it into their curriculum this book offers a hands on user friendly guide for implementing metacognitive and reflective pedagogy in a range of disciplines Offering seven practitioner examples from the sciences technology engineering and mathematics STEM fields the social sciences and the humanities along with sample syllabi course materials and student examples this volume offers a range of strategies for incorporating these pedagogical approaches in college classrooms as well as theoretical rationales for the strategies presented By providing successful models from courses in a broad spectrum of disciplines the editors and contributors reassure readers that they need not reinvent the wheel or fear the unknown but can instead adapt tested interventions that aid learning and have been shown to improve both instructor and student satisfaction and engagement Reflective Practice, Third Edition Sara Horton-Deutsch, Gwen Sherwood, 2023-10-31 The third edition of Reflective Practice depicts the concept of reimagining in

The Psychology Major's Handbook Tara L. Kuther, 2024-02-19 Research shows that today's students are unique. Whether anxious, overwhelmed, or too busy to ask for help, modern students trust and turn to the resources at their fingertips for guidance. Tara Kuther created The Psychology Major's Handbook for this purpose to bridge the gap between advisor and manual. Created to support and follow along with a student through college, this text provides the support of an advisor as students navigate choosing a major, learning how to study, writing papers, and deciding what to do after college. Within each chapter, Kuther supports learners in applying concepts to their own lives through embedded exercises. The updated Sixth Edition encourages students to take an active role in their education and explains all of the ways that students can influence their own college experiences. Three individual chapters emphasize academics and cover crucial study and college skills such as writing a review paper and an APA Style empirical paper. The final four chapters of the text focus on bachelor's and graduate opportunities to help students look past graduation.

Practicum and Internship Christin M. Jungers, Judith Scott, 2014-08-27 Completely revised and updated, the fifth edition of Practicum and Internship is an eminently practical resource that provides students and supervisors with thorough coverage of the theoretical and practical aspects of the practicum and internship process. New in this edition are an accompanying website with downloadable customizable forms, contracts, and a thoughtful discussion of the DSM-5 and HIPAA guidelines and the most recent CACREP standards; expanded analysis of the use of technology and social media in counseling; expanded discussions of ethical decision making and ethical guidelines for informed consent and for supervision; contracts in individual settings; new and updated materials on case conceptualization, assessment, goal setting, and treatment planning; new materials reviewing third-wave counseling theories and practices including MBSR, MBCT, ACT, and DBT; detailed presentation of a skill-based model for counseling training; and self-assessment questionnaires and guided reflection exercises for application and orientation to the model.

Best Practices for Teaching Beginnings and Endings in the Psychology Major Dana Dunn, 2010-01-12 Introductory and capstone experiences in the undergraduate psychology program are crucial ways to engage students in their major and psychology department, impart realistic expectations, and prepare them for life beyond college. Providing the right orientation and capstone courses in psychology education is increasingly a concern of instructors, department chairs, program directors, and deans, and both types of courses have become important sources for gathering pre- and post-coursework assessment data for degree learning outcomes. The strategies presented here have been designed to help educators examine issues around teaching the introductory or careers course and developing a psychology-specific orientation program. The authors also provide concrete suggestions for building capstone experiences designed to fit the needs of a department, its pedagogical philosophy, or the educational agenda of the college or university. Undergraduate psychology curriculum designers and instructors can benefit from learning innovative and effective strategies.

for introducing the major to first year students and at graduation for bringing closure reinforcing the overall departmental learning outcomes and helping students apply their disciplinary knowledge in capstone experiences and post graduate life In this collection of articles psychology instructors involved in the improvement of teaching and learning review the research and share their own successes and challenges in the classroom Discussions include effective practices for helping students become acclimated to and engaged in the psychology major application of developmental knowledge and learning communities to course design and use of quality benchmarks to improve introductory and capstone courses Other chapters describe innovations in the design of stand alone courses and offer concrete advice on counseling psychology graduates about how to use what they have learned beyond their higher education experiences The New Roadmap for Creating Online Courses Catherine R. Teaching U.S.-Educated Multilingual Writers Mark Roberge,Kay M. Losey,Margi Wald,2015-06-04 This volume was born to address the lack of classroom oriented scholarship regarding U S educated multilingual writers Unlike prior volumes about U S educated multilinguals this book focuses solely on pedagogy from classroom activities and writing assignments to course curricula and pedagogical support programs outside the immediate classroom Unlike many pedagogical volumes that are written in the voice of an expert researcher theorist this volume is based on the notion of teachers sharing practices with teachers All of the contributors are teachers who are writing about and reflecting on their own experiences and outcomes and interweaving those experiences and outcomes with current theory and research in the field The volume thus portrays teachers as active reflective participants engaged in critical inquiry Contributors represent community college college and university contexts academic ESL developmental writing and first year composition classes and face to face hybrid and online contexts This book was developed primarily to meet the needs of practicing writing teachers in college level ESL basic writing and college composition classrooms but will also be useful to pre service teachers in TESOL Composition and Education graduate programs
