

AUTOBIOGRAPHY (SAMPLE)

I was born and raised in the United Kingdom (UK), where I lived until the summer of 2000. Having made the decision to move to the United States, much to the chagrin of my parents, I moved to the US and settled in North Carolina. I attended East Carolina University, majored in Elementary Education, and graduated cum laude. Living in the United States has provided me with opportunities to grow and develop, both in my personal and professional life.

As a child growing up in the UK, I was fortunate to attend a well-regarded, private boarding school from kindergarten through high school. The private, all girls school professed a strong educational and ethical philosophy that has remained with me throughout my life. It is this foundation, along with the continued support of my family, educators, and friends that has allowed me to embrace my dream of teaching children.

The year 2002 was the best year of my life. In this, my graduation year, I successfully completed my teaching practicum and also met the man that I would later marry. In 2004, John and I married in the UK, with full attendance by family and friends; it was one of the most important events in my life. A short time later, in November, 2005, I took on another important role in my life, that of mother. The birth of my daughter, Emma, was a turning point in my life, and I made the conscious decision that it was in her best interest that I become a stay-at-home mother before embarking on my teaching career. Because I had a child of my own to nurture and care for, I became more aware of children who do not have the support and nurturing they need to realize their full potential. This created in me great concern about children and lit the flame of desire to return to my teaching career path. I am now entering the teaching arena with a renewed idea of what I would like to achieve as an educator.

This September, it is my hope to secure a teaching position and continue with my dream of teaching today's children. With the wonderful support of my husband and the love of my daughter, I know that I will become a teacher who young children look up to, someone who children can trust, who will always "go the extra mile" to ensure their success.

Teacher Selection and Interview Portfolios Ronald K. Theel, 2002-04-27 The major research questions for this study were a What forms do teacher interview portfolios take b What meaning do school principals make of these portfolios c How if at all are teacher portfolios being used by principals in deciding whom to hire This was a case study using qualitative research procedures The study was situated in the hiring policies and practices of Central City School District from 1995 to 1999 Semi structured interviews of 18 k 12 principals and 4 key informants were primary means of data gathering Document analyses supplemented interview data Interview portfolios typically consisted of lesson plans photographs of projects activities and teacher student interactions and supporting examples of classroom practice Statements of educational philosophy credentials letters of reference transcripts and other background information were also included Most principals viewed portfolios as a way for candidates to express their educational beliefs illustrate skills and methods and supplement the interview with examples from applicants experience Principals expressed a desire for more evidence of having used the portfolio development process as a means of reflection and introspection Overall interview portfolios were not key contributors to principals hiring decisions The reasons for this varied Some principals mentioned time constraints during interviews Others expressed skepticism that portfolios provided meaningful evidence of candidates teaching ability and people skills Propositions and implications for future research center on portfolio format and assessment criteria authenticity and self knowledge selection interview procedures teacher preparation teacher recruitment and hiring and information management in Central City School District Perhaps one of the most valuable benefits of the portfolio process lies in the development of a new norm for the profession placing discussion and debate about what constitutes good teaching into a public forum
