Tec 40 Manual Knowledge Reviews:

Learning and Knowledge Management in the Firm Gabriela Dutrénit, 2000-01-01 this is a substantive contribution to the literature on capability development one which breaks new ground on a hitherto little understood aspect of the knowledge management literature knowledge management issues related with transition stage Few researchers have addressed the full complexity of the transition process of capability development drawing on such an impressive set of data and over such an extended period of time By doing so the book provides a range of new insights into knowledge management issues related with the process of capability development namely those related to the organizational knowledge creation within a latecomer firm It should be read and discussed Muriela P dua Journal of Evolutionary Economics Strategic management literature has until now concentrated on the analysis of how large innovative firms maintain rebuild or renew strategic capabilities This important book illustrates the complex transition process involved as firms accumulate knowledge and develop new types of knowledge management to build the primary strategic capabilities Field Manuals United States. War Department, 1979-12 The Undersea Journal , 2003 Battelle Technical Review Battelle Memorial Institute, 1967 The Sage Handbook of Data and Society Tommaso Venturini, Amelia Acker, Jean-Christophe Plantin, Tone Walford, 2024-12-04 The Sage Handbook of Data and Society provides a comprehensive exploration of the impact of data on society Addressing urgent research questions in this rapidly evolving field and offering a balanced mix of introductory insights and advanced analyses this resource offers a nuanced understanding of critical data studies and their relevance to contemporary society Through detailed examinations of specific issues cases concepts and methodologies the handbook fosters a critical proximity to the entanglement of social dynamics and their data doubles Organized into seven sections the handbook covers a diverse range of topics including data infrastructures digital labor power dynamics environmental challenges bodily experiences scientific methodologies and disciplinary intersections Each section offers a broad examination of critical issues highlighting interdisciplinary scholarship and presenting fresh perspectives on the intricate relationship between data and societal structures Featuring contributions from scholars representing various disciplines and global perspectives The Sage Handbook of Data and Society is an invaluable resource for scholars researchers students and practitioners By encouraging critical engagement with the profound impacts of datafication this handbook equips readers with the necessary tools to navigate the complexities of the digital age and comprehend its implications for contemporary society Section 1 Infrastructures of Data Section 2 Labor of Data Section 3 Power and Struggles of Data Section 4 Data and Crises of Nature Section 5 Data and Bodies Section 6 The Sciences of Data Section 7 Disciplines of Data The Illustrated London News , 1858 Mental Practice: Clinical and Experimental Research in Imagery and Action Observation Magdalena Ietswaart, Andrew J. Butler, Philip L. Jackson, Martin Gareth Edwards, 2016-05-18 There is now strong evidence demonstrating that the brain simulates action and other functions Such action simulation can be evoked through conscious mental rehearsal of movement or imagery but also through passive action observation watching movements in others Furthermore there is evidence to suggest that mental rehearsal of movement or mental practice can produce improvements normally attributed to practising actual movements It is currently assumed that such improvements are due to neural activation associated with action simulation However the neuroscience of mental practice efficacy is still poorly understood The aim of this research topic is to clarify the underlying mechanisms of mental practice bringing evidence from cognitive neuroscience experimental neuropsychology sport and movement science and clinical neurology It also attempts to address confusion regarding the concepts of imagery and observation which has hampered the progression of mental practice research both scientifically and applied As well as reviews theoretical and position articles this research topic includes original neuroimaging experimental and patient research addressing among others the following issues

Neuroimaging studies provide strong evidence for action simulation but the link to behavioural change and functional outcome is weak What is the evidence that mental practice efficacy is driven by neuroplasticity processes evoked by action simulation This research topic includes contributions on neural correlates and behaviour with regards to imagery and action observation Much of the mental practice efficacy evidence comes from longstanding research within sport science However what does mental practice entail in these contexts and to what extent is it compatible with the cognitive neuroscience perspective of action simulation This research topic will include contributions that consider both evidence and concepts with regards to imagery and action observation in an attempt to build an interdisciplinary consensus on the nature and application of mental practice Mental practice is perceived as a promising motor rehabilitation technique but critically there is lack of clarity or consensus on what mental practice treatment should entail It is also not clear what are the most appropriate outcomes to measure imagery ability and cognitive or behavioural change following mental practice A further important issue that needs consideration as part of this research topic is dosage as it is currently unclear how much mental practice is appropriate and whether this depends on patient variables such as age cognitive functioning motor function or pathophysiology
