The Government of Space (Routledge Revivals) Alison Ravetz, 2013-09-13 Britain's planning system began as town and country planning to repair the ravages of unplanned industrialism and promote ideal environments for the future Steering a course between left and right public control and for profit development it survived successive booms and busts broadening to include new concerns like ecology conservation and community participation By the 1986 when this book was first published the system's survival beyond the year 2000 was in doubt It did endure but it is now under serious threat from the right which sees it as obstructing enterprise and the restoration of growth It has been stripped of some of its core aims and mechanisms while as yet there is no agenda distinguishing growth that will be sustainable from growth which self evidently is not The Government of Space was written as a concise guide for the non specialist to the origins and evolution of British planning its intellectual pedigree achievements and cruxes It is an invaluable background to the state of planning and the cases for and against it today      Community Architecture (Routledge Revivals) Nick Wates, Charles Kneivitt, 2013-09-05 First published in 1987 this title was one of the first to explore the emerging popular movement of Community Architecture championed by Prince Charles which gained momentum throughout Britain in the 1970s and 1980s The conceptual framework rests fundamentally on the principle that the built environment is most effective when those who live in a particular area are actively engaged with its creation and daily administration A work that has influenced policy makers and planning legislation Community Architecture remains one of the key reference works for student architects and planners      Everyday Knowledge, Education and Sustainable Futures Margaret Robertson, Po Keung Eric Tsang, 2016-06-01 Everyday knowledge offers opportunities for better understanding of significant issues of our times Reflecting these themes this book places emphasis on community wisdom The underpinning argument is that our instinctive urge for survival may not be enough if we do not share our collective knowledge and learn more about the everyday habits beliefs and actions of communities spread across the region Contributions from researchers active within local communities help build knowledge capacity and support for collaborative research      Responsive Environments Sue McGlynn, Graham Smith, Alan Alcock, Paul Murrain, 2013-05-13 Clearly demonstrates the specific characteristics that make for comprehensible friendly and controllable places Responsive Environments as opposed to the alienating environments often imposed today By means of sketches and diagrams it shows how they may be designed in to places or buildings This is a practical book about architecture and urban design It is most concerned with the areas of design which most frequently go wrong and impresses the idea that ideals alone are not enough Ideals must be linked through appropriate design ideas to the fabric of the built environment itself This book is a practical attempt to show how this can be done      The Fundamentalist City? Nezar AlSayyad, Mejjan Massoumi, 2010-09-13 AlSayyad and Massoumi's text addresses the ways in which religion can affect the city and indeed how the city can affect religion International experts in sociology anthropology religious studies urban planning and geography come together to provide thought provoking pieces on whether a fundamentalist city is possible

Urban Revitalization Carl Grodach, Renia Ehrenfeucht, 2016 This book provides a historical and theoretical overview of urban revitalization offering at the same time real life planning and policy tools data collection techniques and methodologies to help reinvent and reconfigure our cities and suburbs This is an excellent fresh and illuminating book that works as truly solid scholarship for the classroom as well as more general reading      Remaking Cities Tony Fry, 2020 Unprecedented challenges await the future of the world's cities Accelerating population pressure climate change food insecurity poverty and geopolitical instability in the face of such problems our current attempts at producing a sustainable agenda for the world's cities appear fragmented and inadequate Fresh thinking is needed In Remaking Cities renowned design theorist Tony Fry brings a conceptual design perspective to the challenge of urban sustainability and resilience In a typically far sighted and provocative work Fry presents ideas and actions for metrofitting a new kind of practice in architecture and urban design

Metrofitting expands the technological concept of retrofit up to the city scale placing social cultural political and ethical concerns at its heart Metrofitting is not about visionary technology it is about transforming existing cities by combining available resources with human creativity prompted by new thinking about new and old urban problems It requires overcoming outmoded Eurocentric assumptions of what constitutes a city rethinking their forms and structures and understanding their metabolic processes and social and economic functions This book provides conceptually strong practical approaches that will ultimately change the whole way we view cities and the way the urban future is designed Illustrated with international case studies of metrofitting in action Remaking Cities will provoke and stimulate debate among architects urban designers and anyone concerned with the urban environment and social and cultural change The Routledge

Companion to Urban Regeneration Michael E. Leary, John McCarthy, 2013-10-30 In the past decade urban regeneration policy makers and practitioners have faced a number of difficult challenges such as sustainability budgetary constraints demands for community involvement and rapid urbanization in the Global South Urban regeneration remains a high profile and important field of government led intervention and policy and practice continue to adapt to the fresh challenges and opportunities of the 21st century as well as confronting long standing intractable urban problems and dilemmas This Companion provides cutting edge critical review and synthesis of recent conceptual policy and practical developments within the field With contributions from 70 international experts within the field it explores the meaning of urban regeneration in differing national contexts asking questions and providing informed discussion and analyses to illuminate how an apparently disparate field of research policy and practice can be rendered coherent drawing out common themes and significant differences The Companion is divided into six sections exploring globalization and neo liberal perspectives on urban regeneration emerging reconceptualizations of regeneration public infrastructure and public space housing and cosmopolitan communities community centred regeneration and culture led regeneration The concluding chapter considers the future of urban regeneration and proposes a nine point research agenda This Companion assembles a diversity of approaches and insights in one comprehensive volume to provide a state of the art review of the field It is a valuable resource for both advanced undergraduate and postgraduate students in Urban Planning Built Environment Urban Studies and Urban Regeneration as well as academics practitioners and politicians Remaking Metropolis Edward Cook, Jesus

Lara, 2012-11-12 Remaking Metropolis examines examples of both urban decay and destruction as well as urban rebirth It shows why particular approaches were successful or did not achieve their objectives By bringing together innovative approaches to urban living from across the world and by demonstrating how local initiatives can contribute to global solutions the book establishes a framework in which to evaluate current and future developments for urban change and to stimulate a reassessment of urban redevelopment and policies Think Globally Act Locally is an oft used phrase to encourage citizens to take steps close to home as part of addressing overarching environmental issues Critics of this view point to the potential for parochial or even myopic approaches while supporters argue that it creates both a more sustainable and a more culturally grounded environment Remaking Metropolis brings together real world experiences that combine local action with a global world view to demonstrate the continuum between the local and the remote At the same time the compartmentalization of contemporary perspectives towards human life in the fields of science design ecology medicine and politics is leading to increased fragmentation of the mind body city and globe By bridging these artificial divides between disciplines this collection of individual case studies demonstrates the holistic approach necessary for a genuinely sustainable urban condition

The Experimental City James Evans, Andrew Karvonen, Rob Raven, 2016-05-20 This book explores how the concept of urban experimentation is being used to reshape practices of knowledge production in urban debates about resilience climate change governance and socio technical transitions With contributions from leading scholars and case studies from the Global North and South from small to large scale cities this book suggests that urban experiments offer novel modes of engagement governance and politics that both challenge and complement conventional strategies The book is organized around three cross cutting themes Part I explores the logics of urban experimentation different approaches and how and why they are deployed Part II considers how experiments are being staged within cities by whom and with what effects Part III examines how entire cities or groups of cities are constructed as experiments This book seeks to contribute a deeper and more socially and politically nuanced understanding of how urban experiments shape cities and drive wider changes in society providing a framework to examine the phenomenon of urban experimentation in conceptual and empirical detail

The Green City and Social Injustice Isabelle Anguelovski, James J. T. Connolly, 2021-11-18 The Green City and Social Injustice examines the recent urban environmental trajectory of twenty one cities in Europe and North America over a 20 year period It analyses the circumstances under which greening interventions can create a new set of inequalities for socially vulnerable residents while also failing to eliminate other environmental risks and impacts Based on fieldwork in ten countries and on analysis of core planning policy and activist documents and data the book offers a critical view of the growing green planning orthodoxy in the Global North It highlights the entanglements of this tenet with neoliberal municipal policies including budget cuts for community initiatives long term green spaces and housing for the most fragile residents and the focus on large scale urban redevelopment and high end real estate investment It also discusses hopeful experiences from cities where urban greening has long been accompanied by social equity policies or managed by community groups organizing around environmental justice goals and strategies The book examines how displacement and gentrification in the context of greening is not only physical but also socio cultural creating new forms of social erasure and trauma for vulnerable residents Its breadth and diversity allow students scholars and researchers to debunk the often depoliticized branding and selling of green cities and reinsert core equity and justice issues into green city planning a much needed perspective Building from this critical view the book also shows how cities who prioritise equity in green access in secure housing and in bold social policies can achieve both environmental and social gains for all      Cities After Crisis Carlos García Vázquez, 2021-09-30 Cities After Crisis shows how urbanism and urban design is redefining cities after the global health economic and environmental crises of the past decades The book details how these crises have led to a new urban vision from avantgarde modern design to an artisan aesthetic that calls for simplicity and the everyday from the sustainable development paradigm to a resilient vision that defends de growth and the re wilding of cities from a homogenizing globalism to a new localism that values what is distinctive and nearby from the privatization of the public realm to the commoning and self governance of urban resources and from top down to bottom up processes based on the engagement and empowerment of communities Through examples from cities around the world and a detailed look at the London neighbourhood of Dalston the book shows designers and planners how to incorporate residents into the decision making process design inclusive public spaces that can be permanently reconfigured reimagine obsolete spaces to accommodate radically contemporary uses and build gardens designed and maintained by the community among other projects
