focuses on the organization and meaning of craft work in contemporary society. It considers the relationship between craft and place and how this enables the construction of a meaningful relationship with objects of production and consumption. The book explores the significance of raw materials, the relationship between the body, the crafted object and the mind, and the importance of skill, knowledge and learning in the making process. Through this, it raises important questions about the role of craft in facing future challenges by challenging the logic of globalized production and consumption. The Organization of Craft Work encompasses international analyses from the United States, France, Italy, Australia, Canada, the UK and Japan, involving a diverse range of sectors including brewing, food and wine production, clothing and shoe making, and perfumery. The book will be of interest to students and academic researchers in organization studies, marketing and consumer behaviour, business ethics, entrepreneurship, sociology of work, human resource management, cultural studies, geography and fashion and design. In addition, the book will be of interest to practitioners and organizations with an interest in the development and promotion of craft work. Chapter 1 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivatives (CC BY-NC-ND) 4.0 license.

The Outrageous Idea of Christian Teaching Perry Glanzer, Nathan Alleman, 2019-07-29. Hundreds of thousands of professors claim Christian as their primary identity and teaching as their primary vocational responsibility. Yet in the contemporary university, the intersection of these two identities often is a source of fear, misunderstanding and moral confusion. How does being a Christian change one's teaching? Indeed, should it? Inspired by George Marsden's 1997 book The Outrageous Idea of Christian Scholarship, this book draws on a survey of more than 2,300 Christian professors from 48 different institutions in North America to reveal a wide range of thinking about faith-informed teaching. Placing these empirical findings alongside the wider scholarly conversation about the role of identity-informed teaching, Perry L. Glanzer and Nathan F. Alleman argue that their Christian identity can and should inform professors' teaching in the contemporary pluralistic university. The authors provide a nuanced alternative to those who advocate for restraining the influence of one's extra-professional identity and those who, in the name of authenticity, promote the full integration of one's primary identity into the classroom. The book charts new ground regarding how professors think about Christian teaching, specifically as well as how they should approach identity-informed teaching more generally.

Prose Edda Snorri Sturluson, 2021-04-11. The Prose Edda, composed by the Icelandic historian and poet Snorri Sturluson in the early 13th century, stands as a pivotal work in Norse literature. This compendium serves both as a manual for aspiring poets and a narrative of Norse mythology, intertwining the analysis of skaldic verse with a rich tapestry of mythological tales. Sturluson's clear prose, enriched with intricate allegories and historical context, solidifies the text as an essential resource for understanding the Old Norse poetic tradition and its cultural significance during the medieval period. Snorri Sturluson, born into a family of poets and chieftains was deeply influenced by the oral storytelling traditions of Iceland and the political upheavals of his time. His engagement with the sagas and his scholarly pursuits led him to compile and interpret the myths surrounding deities such as Odin and Thor, preserving a substantial part of the Norse heritage that might have otherwise been lost. This background not only shaped his narrative style but also imbued the work with a sense of urgency in safeguarding a cultural legacy. For readers and scholars alike, the Prose Edda is a crucial text that encapsulates the richness of Norse mythology and its poetic forms. Sturluson's meticulous craftsmanship makes it a compelling read for anyone seeking to delve into the complexities of Viking culture, mythology, and the literary traditions of medieval Scandinavia. In this enriched edition, we have carefully created added value for your reading experience. A succinct Introduction situates the work's timeless appeal and themes. The Synopsis outlines the central plot, highlighting key developments without spoiling critical twists. A detailed Historical Context immerses you in the era's events and influences that shaped the writing. An Author Biography reveals milestones in the author's life, illuminating the personal insights behind the text. A thorough Analysis dissects symbols, motifs, and character arcs to unearth underlying meanings. Reflection questions prompt you to engage personally with the work's messages, connecting them to modern life. Hand-picked Memorable Quotes shine a spotlight on moments of literary brilliance. Interactive footnotes clarify unusual references, historical allusions, and archaic phrases for an effortless, more informed read.

Young Children Visit Museums Margaret Carr, Brenda Soutar, Leanne Clayton, Bronwen Cowie, Jeanette Clarkin-Phillips, Shelley Butler, 2022-09-06. Bringing different cultural perspectives on creativity with them, teachers and children in two early childhood education sites in Aotearoa New Zealand were using museum visits as jumping-off places to hone their creative capacity building. As a contribution to Tim Ingold's discussion of anthropology and as education and also finding John Dewey's writing valuable, specifically his framing of enduring attitudes, the authors employ a navigation metaphor throughout the discussion. They describe a coming together of four Cultural Anchors, thinking from materials with four Coordinates, creative capacity builders, to describe ways in which the children were making creative sense of the museum exhibits while at the same time gathering information about them. They take these travel metaphors from a star cluster in the southern hemisphere night sky, Matariki, which provided early sea-going Māori with guidance as they navigated wide stretches of ocean in their sea-going canoes to reach Aotearoa New Zealand. A Māori immersion early childhood centre and school and a New Zealand kindergarten provided lively examples of children's and teachers' responses to the treasured artefacts (taonga) in their local museums. The book describes an ecosocial framing from little to big and illustrates the different cultural perspectives on creativity. The Mana Tamariki kaiako teachers gifted us a title: He taonga he rerenga arorangi. Where there are treasured objects, the spirit is nurtured and creativity will be inspired.
