Through a close textual analysis and a contrastive examination of documents from both cultures Mark Glouberman explores the biblical roots of our Western sense of self identity and the ways in which non philosophical Greek materials enhance our understanding of how that cultural view developed Glouberman illustrates how the Hebrew Scriptures advance a humanist rather than a religious view of human nature He then shows that this same view is germinally present in non philosophical writings of archaic and classical Greece Finally Glouberman argues that the philosophical style of thinking the intellectual basis of Greece s contribution to the West is in fact hostile to what the Bible teaches about human nature and that central Hellenic figures from outside the philosophical mainstream notably Homer and Sophocles are biblical in orientation Each of Glouberman s theses lends new depth to contemporary research on the Bible as a source of material that illuminates the human condition      The Semantic Web - ISWC 2023 Terry R. ranging examination of the interface between American independent film and a converged television landscape that consists of terrestrial broadcasters cable networks and streaming providers in which independent film and television intersect in complex multifaceted and creative ways The book covers the long history of continuities and connections between the two sectors as seen in the activities of PBS HBO or Sundance It considers the movement of filmmakers between indie film and TV such as Steven Soderbergh Rian Johnson the Duplass brothers Joe Swanberg Lynn Shelton and Gregg Araki details the confluence of aesthetic and thematic elements seen in shows such as Girls Breaking Bad Master of None or Glow points to a shared interest in regional sensibilities evident in shows like One Mississippi or Fargo and makes the case for documentaries and web series as significant entities in this domain Collectively the book builds a compelling picture of indie TV as a significant feature of US screen entertainment in the 21st Century This interdisciplinary landmark volume will be a go to reference for students and scholars of Television Studies Film Studies and Media Studies      Reading and Writing for
