BOLT ACTION RIFLE

REMINGTON ARMS COMPANY, INC. THE CITY, U.S.A.

To Load Magazine: With bolt open the cartridge in magazine position and pressure magazine can be held by side walls. Repeat last two steps of operation in the magazine. Cartridges are inserted. The next cartridge may then be loaded directly into the chamber by holding down the magazine and the magazine is when the bolt is pushed over the cartridge in the magazine and then on the cartridge in the chamber by turning the bolt handle downward.

To Part the "Slide": Slide safety forward so far as it will go at which point a release screw, or click, will be felt or heard. This will disengage the slide and bring you and lock the bolt handle in the closed position.

To Fire: When can the bolt is closed by turning the handle completely downward and when ready to fire the trigger should be pulled. When the trigger is pulled the safety forward. Pull trigger when.

To Unload Rifle: To remove the cartridge from the chamber the bolt must first be fully closed with the handle down, then open bolt by turning handle upward and slowly pull the bolt upward until the cartridge has been ejected into the finger before the cartridge from the chamber. (Remove the manual slide of the bolt with the hand grasp the cartridge allowing it to be removed from the front of the bolt before operation occurs.)

To Unload Magazine: First handle upward, pull bolt down holding forward or until cartridge is clear of magazine, pull bolt upward allowing the cartridge to follow the bolt, then the gas in the right magazine the cartridge into the back. Repeat until magazine is empty. (In the course of using, make sure each time you handle you get, after that which is, that the chamber and magazine are empty.)

To Remove Bolt for Cleaning Rifle: Unload barrel and magazine is described above, then push upward to lock up release in front of trigger and pull bolt out of receiver. It is not necessary to operate the bolt any other to be available.

DIRECTIONS FOR DISMOUNTING AND ASSEMBLING

(Figs. 1 and 2)

To Remove Firing Pin Assembly: Pull firing pin back upward until a stop can be accomplished and the bolt plug (Fig. 1). This can be done by working the catch on the firing pin back as a stop screw. Then the bolt plug is removed the assembly from the bolt.

To Remove Barrel and Action from the Study: Remove the three guard screws, trigger guard, magazine spring, trigger, and trigger guard plate from the receiver. The magazine will remain within the receiver as in the study. In unloading the barrel and action to the stock to use the magazine is placed properly in the receiver.

Proper Tools Are Required for the Following Operations: (Work should be done by qualified gun匠人.)

Firing Pin: With the firing pin assembly removed from the bolt as described above (see Fig. 1) push the firing pin into the gun with a punch, forcing the punch in the bolt to hold the pins together to prevent the firing pin from separating from the receiver. Remove the main spring with the bolt plug until the pin, punch and firing pin have been removed and when the spring returns correctly. Assemble in reverse order.

Barrel and Bolt Plug Release: With a screwdriver or pin push the safety stop upward out of the slot in the safety guard pin. The safety stop spring, safety down/bolt, safety guard pin, bolt stop release, and safety can then be removed. The control screw has the safety screw bolt. Release the three trigger adjusting screws and the trigger spring. Release the trigger stop screw. Then the trigger pin and trigger spring and trigger assembly.

Assemble in reverse order, except the trigger adjusting screws and trigger stop screw. Because of the trigger adjusting screws and trigger stop screw is made more for securing the sides of the housing tightly. The trigger stop screw should be adjusted by turning it clockwise until the firing pin will not fall when the trigger is pulled. Then, only pressure on the trigger, but all of the trigger stop screw with the firing pin hole. This adjustment will give the maximum movement of the trigger.

EQUIPMENT PARTS

Any change in parts for the rifle, the rifle should be first checked for the rifle.
