This updated edition of Teaching Global History challenges prospective and beginning social studies teachers to formulate their own views about what is important to know in global history and why. This essential text explains how to organize curriculum around broad social studies concepts and themes as well as student questions about humanity, history and the contemporary world. All chapters feature lesson ideas, a sample lesson plan with activity sheets, primary source documents and helpful charts, graphs, photographs and maps. This new edition includes connections to the C3 framework updates throughout to account for the many shifts in global politics and a new chapter connecting past to present through current events and historical studies in ways that engage students and propel civic activism. Offering an alternative to pre-packaged textbook outlines and materials, this text is a powerful resource for promoting thoughtful reflection and debate on what the global history curriculum should be and how to teach it.
