and dairy products much of the rest of the world has traditionally followed a primarily or entirely vegetarian diet Tragically there has been a dramatic transition in the latter as world meat production has increased about 10 times the world population growth rate in just a few decades I have witnessed the transition to a diet high in animal products in places as beautiful as Micronesia and sub Saharan Africa where diseases such as diabetes and heart disease have just begun to rear their ugly heads This grave trend also multiplies the devastating consequences for the environment worldwide and for the countless billions of animals killed each year for food 10 billion land animals and 10 billion sea animals in the United States alone Many of us wonder what steps we can take to make a difference in the world Here the answer is simple Following a vegan diet is the first and foremost step to improve the condition of the environment human health and the lives of animals contributor to today s serious environmental problems including greenhouse gases The global increase in meat consumption
