Firsthand Accounts

Name: _____

A firsthand account provides a direct and personal perspective on an event or situation. It is an account given by someone who was present or participated in the event, often written by the person who experienced it. This means that the account is based on the narrator's own observations and experiences, rather than on information received from others. This type of account is often used in journalism, history, and personal writing.

What someone does is a firsthand account. It is a direct and personal perspective on an event or situation. It is an account given by someone who was present or participated in the event, often written by the person who experienced it. This means that the account is based on the narrator's own observations and experiences, rather than on information received from others. This type of account is often used in journalism, history, and personal writing.

For example, imagine you went on a field trip to the beach. You saw a lot of people playing in the sand, and you heard the sound of waves crashing against the shore. You might write a firsthand account of this experience, describing what you saw, heard, and felt. This type of account is often used in journalism, history, and personal writing.

Secondhand accounts are accounts that are based on information received from others. They are often used in journalism, history, and personal writing. For example, if you read a newspaper article about a natural disaster, that would be a secondhand account. The journalist who wrote the article was not present at the disaster, but they were able to gather information from people who were.

Card 1

I woke up early on a crisp autumn morning, excited for our family hiking trip to the nearby mountains. As we reached the trailhead, I felt a rush of anticipation. The fresh air and stunning scenery surrounded us as we made our way along the winding path. Suddenly, we spotted a family of deer grazing peacefully in a meadow. It was a magical sight, and I couldn't wait to capture the moment with my camera.

This passage is a _____ hand account.

Card 2

During a family gathering, my uncle recounted his experience witnessing a solar eclipse while on a camping trip. He described the eerie silence that fell over the landscape as the moon passed in front of the sun, casting a shadow over the scene. According to my uncle, the sight of the sun's corona shining in the darkened sky was unlike anything he had ever seen.

Psychic Investigators Efram Sera-Shriar, 2022-06-14 Psychic Investigators examines British anthropology's engagement with the modern spiritualist movement during the late Victorian era Efram Sera Shriar argues that debates over the existence of ghosts and psychical powers were at the center of anthropological discussions on human beliefs He focuses on the importance of establishing credible witnesses of spirit and psychic phenomena in the writings of anthropologists such as Alfred Russel Wallace Edward Burnett Tylor Andrew Lang and Edward Clodd The book draws on major themes such as the historical relationship between science and religion the history of scientific observation and the emergence of the subfield of anthropology of religion in the second half of the nineteenth century For secularists such as Tylor and Clodd spiritualism posed a major obstacle in establishing the legitimacy of the theory of animism a core theoretical principle of anthropology founded in the belief of primitive cultures that spirits animated the world and that this belief represented the foundation of all religious paradigms What becomes clear through this nuanced examination of Victorian anthropology is that arguments involving spirits or psychic forces usually revolved around issues of evidence or lack of it rather than faith or beliefs or disbeliefs
