27. Identify the three types of neurons.
Sensory (afferent) neurons carry information from the environment to the brain. Interneurons carry information from sensory neurons to motor neurons. Motor (efferent) neurons carry information from the brain to the muscles.
28. Describe the function of the myelin sheath.
The myelin sheath is a layer of fatty tissue that surrounds the axon of a neuron. It acts as an insulator, preventing the leakage of electrical current and allowing the signal to travel faster along the axon.
29. Explain the difference between a reflex and a voluntary action.
A reflex is an involuntary, rapid response to a stimulus that does not involve conscious thought. A voluntary action is a conscious, deliberate response to a stimulus that involves the brain.
30. Describe the role of the brain in the nervous system.
The brain is the central control center of the nervous system. It receives information from sensory neurons, processes it, and sends out instructions to motor neurons to control the body's responses.
