nor helps applicants choose schools at which they will be successful They outline the adverse effect the SAT has on students from nonwhite and low income backgrounds They also question the ability of the College Board and the ETS to monitor themselves adequately The authors do not however recommend abolishing either college admissions testing or the College Board and the ETS Rather they propose dropping the SAT and relying on such already available measures as students high school coursework and grades and they raise the possibility that new achievement tests that measure the mastery of high school courses could be developed to replace the SAT
