for scholars and practitioners in the software engineering fields providing new results and answers to open problems in DSL research Business Process Modeling Notation Jan Mendling, Matthias Weidlich, Mathias Weske, 2010-10-11

The BPMN 2010 workshop series provides a forum for academics and practitioners that share an interest in business process modeling using Business Process Modeling Notation BPMN which has seen a huge uptake in both academia and industry. It is seen by many as the de facto standard for business process modeling. It has become very popular with business analysts, tool vendors, practitioners and end users. BPMN promises to bridge business and IT and brings process design and implementation closer together. BPMN 2010 was the second workshop of the series. It took place October 13-14, 2010 at the Hasso Plattner Institute at the University of Potsdam, Germany. This volume contains six contributed research papers that were selected from 16 submissions. There was a thorough reviewing process with each paper being reviewed by on average four Program Committee members. In addition to the contributed papers, these proceedings contain three short papers and three extended abstracts of the invited keynote talks. In conjunction with the scientific workshop, a practitioners event took place the day after the workshop. We want to express our gratitude to all those who made BPMN 2010 possible by generously and voluntarily sharing their knowledge, skills and time. In particular, we thank the Program Committee members as well as the additional reviewers for devoting their expertise and time to ensure the high quality of the workshop's scientific program through an extensive review process. Finally, we are grateful to all the authors who showed their appreciation and support for the workshop by submitting their valuable work to it. Siebel BPEL, Business Process Management Jörg

Desel, Barbara Pernici, Mathias Weske, 2004-06-04. In recent years, the management of business processes has emerged as one of the major developments to ease the understanding of communication about and evolution of process-oriented information systems in a variety of application domains. Based on explicit representations of business processes, process stakeholders can communicate about process structure, content, and possible improvements. Formal analysis, verification, and simulation techniques have the potential to show deficits and to effectively lead to better and more executable processes. Process mining facilitates the discovery of process specifications from process logs that are readily available in many organizations. This volume of Springer's Lecture Notes in Computer Science contains the papers presented at the 2nd International Conference on Business Process Management BPM 2004, which took place in Potsdam, Germany, in June 2004. From more than 70 submissions, BPM 2004 received 19 high-quality research papers. BPM 2004 is part of a conference series that provides a forum for researchers and practitioners in all aspects of business process management. In June 2003, the 1st International Conference on Business Process Management took place in Eindhoven, The Netherlands. Its proceedings were published as Volume 2678 of Lecture Notes in Computer Science by Springer Verlag. A previous volume, LNCS 1806 on Business Process Management, was based on four events devoted to this topic. Workflow Patterns Nick Russell, Wil M.P. Van Der Aalst, Arthur H. M. Essential Business Process Modeling Michael Havey, 2005-08-18 Ten years ago groupware bundled with email and calendar applications helped track the flow of work from person to person within an organization Workflow in today's enterprise means more monitoring and orchestrating massive systems A new technology called Business Process Management or BPM helps software architects and developers design code run administer and monitor complex network based business processes BPM replaces those sketchy flowchart diagrams that business analysts draw on whiteboards with a precise model that uses standard graphical and XML representations and an architecture that allows it converse with other services systems and users Sound complicated It is But it's downright frustrating when you have to search the Web for every little piece of information vital to the process Essential Business Process Modeling gathers all the concepts design architecture and standard specifications of BPM into one concise book and offers hands on examples that illustrate BPM's approach to process notation execution administration and monitoring Author Mike Havey demonstrates standard ways to code rigorous processes that are centerpieces of a service oriented architecture SOA which defines how networks interact so that one can perform a service for the other His book also shows how BPM complements enterprise application integration EAI a method for moving from older applications to new ones and Enterprise Service BUS for integrating different web services messaging and XML technologies into a single network BPM he says is to this collection of services what a conductor is to musicians in an orchestra it coordinates their actions in the performance of a larger composition Essential Business Process Modeling teaches you how to develop examples of process oriented applications using free tools that can be run on an average PC or laptop You'll also learn about BPM design patterns and best practices as well as some underlying theory The best way to monitor processes within an enterprise is with BPM and the best way to navigate BPM is with this valuable book
