WORKSHEET

Global Population Distribution

Global population distribution shows where people live and how they live. It is influenced by physical and human factors.

Population Density

- The world's population is evenly distributed across the globe.
- The majority of people live in densely populated areas.
- The majority of people live in areas where density is higher than the world average.
- People live in areas where density is higher than the world average.
- People live in areas where density is higher than the world average.

Population Density and Distribution

Some areas of the world are densely populated (crowded) with many people. Some areas are sparsely populated (empty) with few people.

Factors influencing where people live:

Physical factors: climate, relief, resources. Human factors: economic activities, services, accessibility.

Population density is the number of people living in a given area. It is measured by the number of people per square kilometer.
