Worlds of Hungarian Writing András Kiséry, Zsolt Komáromy, Zsuzsanna Varga, 2016-05-12

Worlds of Hungarian Writing responds to the rapidly growing interest in Hungarian authors throughout the English speaking world Addressing an international audience the essays in the collection highlight the intercultural contexts that have molded the conventions genres and institutions of Hungarian writing from the nineteenth century to the present They are mapping some of the ways in which a modern literature is produced by encounters with languages cultures and media external to its traditionally conceived boundaries But rather than viewing intercultural exchange as an external force the collection recognizes its enabling importance to the globalizing reception and circulation of Hungarian writing over the continuities and constraints implied by more traditional national narratives Worlds of Hungarian Writing posits intercultural exchange as the very substance of a literary culture Discussions of the politics of appropriation and translation of the impact of migr writers and critics and of the use of world literary models in genre formation complement studies of the fate of western leftist critical theory in post 1989 Hungary of the role of African American models in contemporary Roma culture and of the use of photography in late 20th century prose The volume spans a wide generic range from the achievements of such canonical 19th century critics and poets as J zsef Bajza and J nos Arany to neglected women authors translators such as Theresa Pulszky to modernist writers and critics like Antal Szerb and Gy rgy Luk cs and to the contemporary novelists P ter Esterh zy P ter N das and L szl Krasznahorkai Each essay is an original contribution to comparative literature and to the study of this Central European literature but is intended to be accessible to readers unfamiliar with its traditions

Forms of Enchantment: Writings on Art and Artists Marina Warner, 2018-10-23 An anthology of enlightening writing by an award winning critic that engages with art in its social political and aesthetic contexts Art writing at its most useful should share the dynamism fluidity and passions of the objects of its enquiry argues author Marina Warner in this new anthology Here some of Warner s most compelling writing captures the visual experience of the work of a diverse group of artists with a notable focus on the inner lives of women through an exploration of the range of stories and symbols to which they allude in their work Warner vividly describes this imagery covering the connection with animals in the work of Louise Bourgeois the Catholicism of Damien Hirst performance as a medium of memory in the installations of Joan Jonas and more Rather than drawing on connoisseurship Warner s approach grows principally out of anthropology and mythology Accompanied by illustrations of the works being described Marina Warner s writing unites the imagination of artist writer and reader creating a reading experience that parallels the intrinsic pleasure of looking at art This book will appeal to any student of art history those interested in philosophy feminism and more generally in the humanities

Reading Architecture Angeliki Sioli, Yoonchun Jung, 2018-04-09 Why write instead of draw when it comes to architecture Why rely on literary pieces instead of architectural treatises and writings when it comes to the study of buildings and urban environments. Why rely on literary techniques and accounts instead of architectural practices and analysis when it comes to academic research and educational projects? Why trust authors and writers instead of sociologists or scientists when it comes to planning for the future of cities? This book builds on the existing interdisciplinary bibliography on architecture and literature but prioritizes literature's capacity to talk about the lived experience of place and the premise that literary language can often express the inexpressible. It sheds light on the importance of a literary instead of a pictorial imagination for architects and it looks into four contemporary architectural subjects through a wide variety of literary works. Drawing on novels that engage cities from around the world, the book reveals aspects of urban space to which other means of architectural representation are blind. Whether through novels that employ historical buildings or sites interpreted through specific literary methods, it suggests a range of methodologies for contemporary architectural academic research. By exploring the power of narrative language in conveying the experience of lived space, it discusses its potential for architectural design and pedagogy. Questioning the massive architectural production of today's globalized capital-driven world, it turns to literature for ways to understand, resist, or suggest alternative paths for architectural practice. Despite literature's fictional character, the essays of this volume reveal true dimensions of and for places beyond their historical, social, and political reality, dimensions of utmost importance for architects, urban planners, historians, and theoreticians nowadays. Organic Cinema Thorsten Botz-Bornstein, 2017-06-01

The organic is by now a venerable concept within aesthetics, architecture, and art history, but what might such a term mean within the spatialities and temporalities of film? By way of an answer, this concise and innovative study locates organicity in the work of Béla Tarr, the renowned Hungarian filmmaker and pioneer of the slow cinema movement. Through a wholly original analysis of the long take and other signature features of Tarr's work, author Thorsten Botz-Bornstein establishes compelling links between the seemingly remote spheres of film and architecture, revealing shared organic principles that emphasize the transcendence of boundaries. The Art of Libromancy Josh Cook, 2023-08-22 ONE OF LIT HUB'S MOST ANTICIPATED BOOKS OF 2023 ESQUIRE's August 2023 Book Club Pick If books are important to you because you're a reader or a writer, then how books are sold should be important to you as well. If it matters to you that your vegetables are organic, your clothes made without child labor, your beer brewed without a culture of misogyny, then it should matter how books are made and sold to you. With Amazon's growing power in both bookselling and publishing, considering where and how we get our books is more important now than ever. The simple act of putting a book in a reader's hands, what booksellers call handselling, becomes a catalyst for an exploration of the moral, financial, and political pressures all indie bookstores face. From the relationship between bookselling and white supremacy to censorship and the spread of misinformation to the consolidation of the publishing industry, veteran bookseller and writer Josh Cook turns a generous yet critical eye to an industry at the heart of American culture, sharing tips and techniques for becoming a better reader and, of course,
