Environment, Politics and Activism Somnath Batabyal, 2015-07-17 This book examines the role of the media in environmental politics and activism in the 21st century. It highlights how politics is mediated in myriad ways through newspapers and news channels through mobile telephony and through social networking sites. Further, it shows how the media creates and influences relevant discourses, builds campaigns and awareness, and adopts and discards issues. With a range of perspectives on issues of environmental justice and equity, the volume scrutinizes how the media discourse on environment shapes our politics and the role of international politics, finance, youth, newspapers, magazines, and 24-hour television. Bringing together academics, activists, and media persons, this highly topical book will serve as significant reading for researchers and scholars of development studies and media studies, as well as policymakers, NGOs, and environmental campaigners.

Traditional Knowledge in Food Activism and Governance Andrea Pieroni, Michele Filippo Fontefrancesco, Ina Vandebroek, 2024-08-16 The current debate on Traditional Knowledge (TK) and food heritage has had momentum in recent years, mainly thanks to the remarkable interest of some local and national institutions, small-scale producers, and emerging chefs. However, in the scientific arena, the process of documenting traditional knowledge and the heritage of local foods is often addressed by itself and is not well connected to deeper reflections of the actual participatory processes involved in local development or to the manners through which TK informs public discourse regarding local foods and how this may further influence activists, institutions, and governance.

Support of Life Laura Westra, 2016-08-17 The ongoing environmental crisis has given rise to grave concerns everywhere and a number of authors have approached this topic from various disciplines and points of view proposing different strategies to address and correct the situation. A major problem however is presented by the role and possible efficiency of existing legal regimes most of which do not consider seriously the ecological problems that are the basis of most of the global problems that beset us. In 2015 Italy hosted the 2015 Expo of Milano an important fair that attempted to address some of these major issues primarily the availability of safe food and water and the legal regimes that govern their distribution. The conference that resulted in this volume took place at the University of Parma an old university in a city roughly one hour away. This volume discusses a variety of environmental and ecological issues from the standpoint of existing legal instruments with a primary focus on the necessity for ecologically oriented governance in order to mitigate and redress a situation that at present supports multiple human rights violations.
