Environment, Politics and Activism Somnath Batabyal, 2015-07-17 This book examines the role of the media in environmental politics and activism in the 21st century. It highlights how politics is mediated in myriad ways through newspapers and news channels through mobile telephony and through social networking sites. Further, it shows how the media creates and influences relevant discourses, builds campaigns and awareness, and adopts and discards issues. With a range of perspectives on issues of environmental justice and equity, the volume scrutinizes how the media discourse on environment shapes our politics and the role of international politics, finance, youth, newspapers, magazines, and 24-hour television. Bringing together academics, activists, and media persons, this highly topical book will serve as significant reading for researchers and scholars of development studies and media studies, as well as policymakers, NGOs, and environmental campaigners.

Green European Audrone Telesiene, Matthias Gross, 2016-07-01 Green European addresses the quest for a better understanding of European types of environmentalism. This monograph focuses on public attitudes and behaviours and the culturally rooted, as well as country-specific differences. The book addresses the wider issue that many European countries are rendered green or as having an advanced environmental awareness, but the question how green are Green Europeans really is yet to be answered. The book covers a variety of unique data-driven comparative studies and is divided into three parts: the first addresses perceptions of environmental and technological threats and risks; the second part deals with environmental activism in Europe; the third discusses environmental attitudes, environmental concerns, and their imminent link to personal pro-environmental behaviour. The empirical comparative nature of the contributions is enabled by data from the International Social Survey Programme (ISSP).

Maternal Activism Danielle Poe, 2015-02-11 Maternal Activism tells the stories of women who refused to ignore injustice even though many people urged them to stop their activism by claiming it would harm their children. Molly Rush, Michele Naar, Obed, Cindy Sheehan, and Diane Wilson recognized that the potential well-being of their children relates to the damage done by US militarism and environmental destruction. These women's stories illustrate feminist ethical theory and contemporary theory from peace studies. By examining their context for addressing injustice and the theoretical supports for their action, this book demonstrates that issues of injustice overlap such that critiques of nuclear weapons lead to critiques of war and militarism, which lead to critiques of environmental destruction.

Digital ecologies Jonathon Turnbull, Adam Searle, Henry Anderson-Elliott, Eva Haifa Giraud, 2024-12-17 Digital ecologies draws together leading social science and humanities scholars to examine how digital media are reshaping the futures of conservation, environmentalism, and ecological politics. The book offers an overview of the emerging field of interdisciplinary digital ecologies research by mapping key debates and issues in the field with original empirical chapters exploring how livestreams, sensors, mobile technologies, social media platforms, and software are reconfiguring life in profound ways. The collection traverses contexts ranging from animal exercise apps to surveillance systems on the high seas and is organised around the themes of encounters governance and assemblages Digital ecologies also includes an agenda setting intervention by the book's editors and three closing chapter length provocations by leading scholars in digital geographies the environmental humanities and media theory that set out trajectories for future research
