

Reflection Paper: Self-Assessment of Learning

3 pages | 733 words

Before entering college, I never took the time to self reflect on my actions as much as I should have. Over the years, I noticed that I tend to be my biggest critic. I judge everything I do both inside and outside of the classroom very harshly. Many people suggest that I should not be so hard on myself. The more I reflect on myself, the more I learn about my beliefs and skills. I believe this is a strength because I am learning more about myself and my self-development as a future counselor. Throughout this paper, I will reflect on my self-awareness when it comes to learning different counseling techniques as well as critiquing my skill development.

Self-Awareness

During a class discussion, we went over a scenario where a client was expressing having an affair with a co-worker who is married and has a child. When we were going over this particular scenario I became self-aware on how bias I am toward cheating on your significant other. If I have a future client who shares that they are cheating on their significant other, I do not want to judge them based on my beliefs. I want to help them to the best of my ability despite what I think is right or wrong. If I have a client who shares that their significant other is cheating on them, I do not want to make it seem like I am taking their side because of my beliefs. Noticing that I am biased toward cheating has impacted my learning because I will begin to look for different techniques that will benefit the way I help my client. Helping my clients overcome what they are going through entails me to be very open-minded and say what is right for my client and their situation, not dependent on my personal beliefs. During a role-playing session, I became self-aware that I need to work on using other techniques during a counseling session. I noticed during role-play, I mainly reflect on my client's feelings. Reflecting on my clients feeling is not a bad technique, but I want to expand my techniques. I want to ask more open-ended questions, use more door openers, minimal encouragers, etc. During class I learned open-ended questions and door openers can encourage my client to expand on how they are feeling. Therefore, this will give me a better understanding of where my client is coming from and how my client is feeling. I also learned that using minimal encouragers will let my client know that I am listening to them.

Skill Development

One skill I want to improve on is utilizing silence without feeling uncomfortable. During role-play sessions, I practiced using silence but I found myself breaking the silence before my client did because I felt awkward. I fear that if I utilize silence and my client senses that I am uncomfortable, it will make them uncomfortable. If my client feels uncomfortable, they will not want to open up to me. One major lesson I took away from a class discussion as well as reading Young's textbook is how silence can encourage...

Solway,2000-11-21 A dominant theme that pervades this collection is the status of theory in the educational system Solway claims that nothing of genuine and productive import comes out of theories The manifold problems that bedevil the academy cannot be solved or even rectified by the usual onslaught of dogmas reforms and pseudo revolutionary postulates that are produced in the misguided attempt to find the single perfect pedagogical system Instead we must embark on a stringent re examination of the principles and assumptions on which our culture itself is predicated as reflected in contemporary practice To do this we need to develop an accurate killer heuristic to identify and monitor threats to our vocational well being and effectiveness This requires courage a horror of sentimental credulity and a willingness to learn from those in the educational trenches the reference librarian should be questioned about the fate of the book not the academic dean who has seldom read one the teacher who has weathered innumerable classes should be heard not the personnel director who is rarely in the building the department secretary who is about to lose her job should be heeded while a jaundiced eye is turned on the omnipresent school coordinator In almost every case Solway believes those who deal directly with students will tell you the truth about what is happening to education while administrators will shuffle and mislead The essays here are based on information from the trenches as well as from a significant minority of writers on educational and cultural themes The Turtle Hypodermic of Sickenpods will be must reading for anyone interested in the fate of students and the education system

Reconstructing Response to Student Writing Dan Melzer,2023-08-07 In Reconstructing Response to Student Writing Dan Melzer makes the argument that writing instructors should shift the construct so that peer response and student self assessment are more central than teacher response Presenting the results of a national study of teacher and peer response and student self assessment at institutions of higher education across the United States Melzer analyzes teacher and peer response to over 1 000 pieces of student writing as well as 128 student portfolio reflection essays He draws on his analysis and on a comprehensive review of the literature on response to introduce a constructivist heuristic for response aimed at both composition instructors and instructors across disciplines Melzer argues that teachers and researchers should focus less on teacher response to individual pieces of student writing and more on engaging in dialogue with student self assessment and peer response focusing on growth and transfer rather than products and grades Reconstructing Response to Student Writing especially when taken together with Melzer s previous book Assignments across the Curriculum provides a comprehensive and large scale view of college writing and responding across the curriculum in the United States

Learning Through Practice Mason Ross, AI, 2025-02-22. Learning Through Practice argues that actively engaging with material through hands-on practice and experiential learning is crucial for effective knowledge acquisition and long-term memory retention. The book explores the cognitive and educational psychology behind why doing solidifies understanding more effectively than passive methods. Did you know that kinesthetic learning, which involves physical activity, can significantly enhance memory encoding? Or that immediate application of knowledge boosts motivation and strengthens neural pathways? The book uniquely integrates theoretical insights from psychology and education, providing educators with a framework for incorporating experiential learning into classrooms with practical strategies and examples. Beginning with foundational concepts like active recall and embodied cognition, it progresses through the psychological basis of learning by doing, evaluations of various experiential learning models, and practical applications across educational settings. This approach emphasizes active participation over traditional rote memorization, a vital shift considering the need for adaptability in today's world. The book's exploration of active learning highlights its impact on cognitive development, memory retention, and curriculum development. By examining empirical studies and case studies, Learning Through Practice offers a guide for educators and learners alike to implement active learning strategies and educational techniques. Ultimately, it advocates for a move towards educational models that prioritize engagement and hands-on practice.
