Nickel Metal Hydride (NiMH) Batteries

Observe the following guidelines when using Nikon EN-ELH1 and EN-ELH2 Nikon batteries.

- Observe rechargeable battery safety charges. At all times, avoid shorting charges or the EN-ELH1 or EN-ELH2 battery charger battery lead set.

Batteries may become hot when charged. Observe this warning after handling batteries during or after charging.

Under certain charging conditions, the battery pack or other parts may become hot after charging under some conditions. This is normal and does not indicate a problem.

- New batteries and batteries that have been left unused for an extended period tend to lose their charge rapidly; this is normal for NiMH batteries and the batteries will accept a charge after being used and recharged several times.

Batteries will become hot when using the Nikon charger made specially for:

- The battery and charger terminals are covered thoroughly with a protective film before charging to remove fingerprints, and other items that can adversely affect battery performance.
- They are charged at an ambient temperature of 10–30°C (50–86°F).
- They are fully recharged until fully extended light under the charge lead lamp glows (200% full charge) in the case of the battery charger.
