Shortlisted for the 2022 SAES AFEA Research Prize Building on an upsurge of interest in the Americanisation of British novels triggered by the Harry Potter series this book explores the various ways that British novels from children's fiction to travelogues and Book Prize winners have been adapted and rewritten for the US market Drawing on a vast corpus of over 80 works and integrating the latest research in multimodality and stylistics Linda Pillière analyses the modifications introduced to make British English texts more culturally acceptable and accessible to the American English reader From paratextual differences in cover illustrations typeface and footnotes to dialectal changes to lexis tense syntax and punctuation Pillière explores the sociocultural and ideological pressures involved in intralingual translation and shows how the stylistic effects of such changes including loss of meaning voice rhythm and word play often result in a more muted American edition In doing so she reveals how homing in on numerous small adjustments can provide fascinating insights into the American publishing process and readership      British Museum Catalogue of printed Books ,1891      Translation after Wittgenstein Philip Wilson,2015-11-19 In this eminently readable study Philip Wilson explores the later writings of Ludwig Wittgenstein and shows how a reading of this philosophy can enable the translation theorist and the practising translator to reflect upon and improve the phenomenon of translation Wittgenstein whilst a key figure in twentieth century philosophy remains peripheral to the field of translation studies and Wilson argues that his later work because it deals with the nature of language and meaning is potentially of great significance and an awareness of this can change translation both literary and non literary Wittgenstein s life and thought is treated in the introduction where it is shown how his methods can be applied to areas outside philosophy The central three chapters of the book survey the reading of the source text for translation the writing of the target text the theorisation of the target text The author demonstrates how tools from Wittgenstein s work can be of use in translation studies the notion of the language game for example helps us to understand meaning by looking at the way that words are used and this can both help us describe translation and suggest ways of translating A wide variety of examples and case studies is given throughout the book from both literary and non literary sources Aimed at translation studies scholars graduate students and researchers this interdisciplinary book will also be of interest to scholars of philosophy and literature

Literary Translation Ida Klitgård,2006 This volume of Angles on the English Speaking World discusses the intriguing inter relatedness between the concepts and phenomena of world literature and translation The term worlding presented by str ur Eysteinnsson in this collection is coined by Sarah Lawell in her book Reading World Literature 1994 where it denotes the reader s pleasurable reading of the meeting of worlds in a literary translation i e the meeting of the different cultural environments embodied in a translation from one language into another Through such reading the reader in fact participates in creating true world literature This is a somewhat unorthodox conception of world literature conventionally defined as great literature shelved in a majestic canonical library In the opening article sparking off the theme of this collection Eysteinnsson asks Which text does the concept of world literature refer to It can hardly allude exclusively to the original which the majority of the work s readers may never get to know On the other hand it hardly refers to the various translations as seen apart from the original It seems to have a crucial bearing on the border between the two and on the very idea that the work merits the move across this linguistic and cultural border to reside in more than two languages Picking up on this question at issue all the essays in this collection throw light on the problematic mechanics of cultural encounters when reading the world in literary translation i e in the texts themselves as well as in the ways in which they have become institutionalised as world literature
