where people must act on limited information and judge another person's trustworthiness based on signs that may or may not be honest indicators of that person's character or intent Gambetta and Hamill analyze the behavior of cabbies in two cities where driving a taxi is especially perilous New York City where drivers have been the targets of frequent and violent robberies and Belfast Northern Ireland a divided metropolis where drivers have been swept up in the region's sectarian violence Based on in depth ethnographic research Streetwise lets drivers describe in their own words how they seek to determine the threat posed by each potential passenger The drivers decisions about whom to trust are treated in conjunction with the sign management strategies of their prospective passengers both genuine passengers who try to persuade drivers of their trustworthiness and the villains who mimic them As the theory that guides this research suggests drivers look for signs that correlate closely with trustworthiness but are difficult for an impostor to mimic A smile a business suit or a skullcap alone do not reassure drivers as any criminal could easily wear them Only if attached to other signs a middle aged woman a business address or a synagogue are they persuasive Drivers are adept at deciphering deceitful signals but trickery is occasionally undetectable so they must adopt defensive strategies to minimize their exposure to harm In Belfast where drivers are locals and often have histories of paramilitary involvement macho posturing often serves to deter would be criminals while New York cabbies mostly immigrants who view themselves as outsiders try simply to minimize the damage from attacks by appeasing robbers and carrying only small amounts of cash For most people erring in a trust decision leads to a broken heart or a few dollars lost For cab drivers such an error could mean losing their lives The way drivers negotiate these high stakes offers us vivid insight into how to determine another person's trustworthiness Written with clarity and color Streetwise invites the reader to ride shotgun with cabbies as they grapple with a question of relevance to us all which signs of trustworthiness can we really trust A Volume in the Russell Sage Foundation Series on Trust Moon Alaska Don remarkable combination of pristine nature and traditional culture which sets it apart from Arctic neighbours and which makes a trip so rewarding The world s twelfth largest country but also part of the Kingdom of Denmark Greenland sits near the top of the world a vast expanse of white in a planet full of green blue and brown Today s visitors relish opportunities for close encounters with immense icebergs and glaciers The epic scenery provides the backdrop to the numerous activities on offer from visiting the world s second largest ice sheet or taking to the sea in search of thirteen species of whale and from hiking the 165 km long Arctic Circle Trail to seeking out polar bears musk oxen and walruses Greenland in winter is another world the endless night brightened by the mesmerising northern lights It remains a snowy paradise until spring the best time to travel by dog sled or snowmobile across the frozen tundra To relax afterwards why not close your trip with a few days of nature inspired art eclectic culture and fine dining in the diminutive capital Nuuk Greenland has always been a destination for pioneering explorers be they the Inuit who arrived from the west the Norsemen who came from the east or mariners seeking the Northwest Passage Part of the attraction for today s visitors is to experience an element of the challenges they faced Although travel within Greenland can be tricky given limited infrastructure and often adverse weather conditions it can also be a remarkably easy place in which to travel with the right planning a flexible attitude and the right advice which is precisely where Bradt s Greenland comes in Let it be your guide to a truly staggering country Explorer's Guide Alaska
