MEDICAL & LEGAL ISSUES

This section discusses broad principles; be aware of state and local laws and local protocols

Consent & Refusal

- Consent: Permission from the patient for care or treatment
- Expressed consent: Consent given by a person who is of legal age and of sufficient mental capacity to be considered competent; must be informed consent, meaning the person understands the risks and benefits of treatment and refusal of treatment
- Implied consent: Assumes that an unconscious person or a parent/guardian would consent to treatment if the person were conscious or the parent/guardian were available
- Refusal of care: Must meet three criteria (and all must be documented):
 1. Patient is legally able to consent
 2. Patient is competent and oriented
 3. Patient must be fully informed of risks and benefits of both treatment and refusal of treatment
- Alternatives should be documented (e.g., instructions for the patient to call a doctor or 911 if symptoms worsen)
- Any resources consulted (e.g., Medical Control, family members, law enforcement, or the patient's health care provider) should be documented
- Witness signatures should be included
- Advance directives: A written decision made by a patient before care is required
 1. Do not resuscitate (DNR) order: A legal document signed by a patient or his/her designee and the patient's physician that states the patient does not desire resuscitation efforts
 2. Living will: A legal document that expresses the patient's decisions about long-term care measures such as nutrition, hydration, and ventilation
 3. Health care proxy: A legal document that designates a health care agent or decision maker in the event that the patient is unable to make his/her own decisions

NOTE: Some states allow legal documents that encompass all of the previously mentioned forms, such as a Health Care Power of Attorney or a Medical Orders for Life-Sustaining Treatment (MOLST) form

- Negligence: Failure to act properly; must meet certain criteria:
 1. Must be a duty to act; that is, the EMT had an obligation to provide care
 2. Must be a breach of duty; that is, the standard of care was not met; may include failure to act (i.e., failure to provide the accepted standard of care in the community)
 3. Harm must be caused to the patient
 4. There must be proximal cause; that is, the harm must be related to the breach of duty
 - Medical direction: The oversight of patient care in the EMS system by a physician (i.e., the Medical Director)
 1. On-line medical direction consists of orders given directly to the EMT caring for the patient from the physician via radio or telephone
 2. Off-line medical direction consists of standing orders for certain medications or procedures
- Other Legal Issues
- Abandonment: Leaving a patient without ensuring patient care has been turned over to a person with equal or greater training
 - Libel: To publish an untruth that will harm someone's reputation
 - Slander: Oral defamation that will harm someone's reputation
 - Assault: A threat of bodily harm
 - Battery: An intentional act that causes bodily harm
 - Patient confidentiality: The obligation to protect information about a patient and to reveal necessary information only to those directly involved in the care of the patient
 - Good Samaritan laws: Laws that protect individuals who reasonably attempt to rescue or aid another; vary in each state
