African American Women Chemists in the Modern Era Jeannette E. Brown, 2018-08-08

This is the second of two books about African American female chemists The first book African American Women Chemists 2011 focused on the early pioneers women chemists from the Civil War to the Civil Rights Act African American Women Chemists in the Modern Era focuses on contemporary women who have benefited from the Civil Rights Act and are now working as chemists or chemical engineers This book was produced by taking the oral history of women who are leaders in their field and who wanted to tell the world how they succeeded It features eighteen amazing women in this book and each of them has a claim to fame despite hiding in plain sight These women reveal the history of their lives from youth to adult Overall Jeannette Brown aims to inspire women and minorities to pursue careers in the sciences as evidenced by the successful career paths of the women that came before them Resilience and Resistance through Contemplative

Practice Nicole Bauer, 2024-06-17 Burnout imposter syndrome changes in higher education issues of free speech structural inequality the challenges facing academics today are daunting and overwhelming How do we balance all of our responsibilities and goals without becoming exhausted How do scholars decide if activism is right for them and if so what form should it take There is fortunately great wisdom solace and practical advice for the modern academic in ancient wisdom traditions indigenous cultures and contemplative practices like meditation from around the world In Resilience and Resistance through Contemplative Practice Zen and the Anxious Academic the author argues that contemplative practice is not a substitute for social change or a band aid for the difficulties academics face but rather a powerful tool in building resilience and resistance to forces that undermine our well being Learn for example how Jungian psychology and ancient dream practices can help with academic writing how the concept of dharma can lead us to discern our vocation and if activism is the right path for us and how meditation can help us rediscover our innate self worth in a culture where value is judged by narrow definitions of productivity and achievement With these tools and insights we can create positive change in both our inner and outer worlds
