Navy Training Programmes For 2015 South Africa:

Shaping the Future of Power Lina Benabdallah, 2020-07-20 China's rise to power is one of the biggest questions in International Relations theory IRT and foreign policy circles. Although power has been a core concept of IRT for a long time, the faces and mechanisms of power as it relates to Chinese foreign policymaking have changed the contours of that debate. The rise of China and other powers across the global political arena sparks a new visibility for different kinds of encounters between states, particularly between China and other Global South states. These encounters are more visible to IR scholars because of the increasing influence that rising powers have in the international system. This book shows that foreign policy encounters between rising powers and Global South states do not necessarily exhibit the same logics, behaviors, or investment strategies of Euro-American hegemony. Instead, they have distinctive features that require new theoretical frameworks for analysis. Shaping the Future of Power probes the types of power mechanisms that build diffuse and project China's power in Africa. One must take into account the processes of knowledge production, social capital formation, and skills transfers that Chinese foreign policy directs toward African states to fully understand China's power building mechanisms. The relational power framework requires these elements to capture both the material aspects and ideational, people-centered aspects to power. By examining China's investments in human resource development programs for Africa, the book reveals a vital yet undertheorized aspect of China's foreign policy making.

Maritime Security in the Indian Ocean and Western Pacific Howard M. Hensel, Amit Gupta, 2017-11-28 Scholars and policy makers have traditionally viewed portions of the Indian Ocean and the Western Pacific as separate and discrete political, economic, and military regions. In recent years, however, a variety of economic, political, and military forces have made many within the academic community, as well as a growing number of national governmental leaders, change their perceptions and recognize that these maritime expanses are one zone of global interaction. Consequently, political, military, and economic developments in one maritime region increasingly have an impact elsewhere. Analyzing and assessing the contemporary maritime challenges in the Indian Ocean and the Western Pacific, this valuable study highlights the current prospects for peace and security in what is rapidly becoming recognized as an integrated and interactive political, military, strategic, and economic environment. This work will be of interest to researchers and policy makers involved in regional studies, as well as security studies, conflict resolution, military, and peace studies.

Capacity Building for Maritime Security Christian Bueger, Timothy Edmunds, Robert McCabe, 2020-10-09 This book studies recent attempts to restructure maritime security sectors through capacity building. It innovates both theoretically and empirically. It proposes a new framework for understanding maritime capacity building, drawing on work in peacebuilding and security sector reform. The framework is then applied across empirical case studies from the Western Indian Ocean (WIO) region, written by scholars from the Global South. The WIO region is a paradigmatic case to study maritime security and capacity building in action. Countries in the region face the full gamut of maritime security challenges while their indigenous capacities to deal with these are often weak In consequence the region functions as an engine of innovation for maritime capacity building more widely The lessons and best practices from the region have importance consequences for addressing maritime security across the globe Great Power Competition in the Southern Oceans Ariel González Levaggi,2023-07-13 Great power competition is the watermark of the current global scenario In this regard the maritime and naval dimension have a particular relevance on the struggle for regional and global hegemony This book has the potential to engage with multiple audiences since develops an analytic approach to understand naval great power competition in the maritime spaces of the Global South It is set within a neoclassical realism approach while engaging literature from international relations international security and studies on the Indo Pacific and the South Atlantic security dynamics The book offers a unique conceptual framework to understand how great powers select their maritime strategies presents a series of regional and global maritime strategies by the United States China Russia and India while assess their impact in the Southern Oceans focusing in the Indo Pacific realm and the South Atlantic South African Foreign Policy David R Black,David Hornsby,2018-04-19 This book considers the identity direction and intentions embodied in post apartheid South African Foreign Policy It aims to deepen the understanding of this evolving post apartheid foreign policy through an exploration of the nature and trajectory of key bilateral relationships from both the global South Brazil China Iran the AU and North Japan and the UK This window on the country s international relations enriches understanding of the normative and structural factors that influence not only South African foreign policy but those of what Jordaan 2003 calls emerging middle powers as they seek to position themselves as influential actors in international affairs By sketching the contours of key South African relationships the contributors offer illuminating insights into the cross pressures shaping South African foreign policy In addition they also add depth to the emerging middle power concept by exploring four areas where the tendencies and tensions of emerging middle power foreign policies are apparent regionalism multilateralism reform of global governance and approach to moral leadership This book was previously published as a special issue of Commonwealth and Comparative Politics Expanding US Military Command in Africa Tshepo Gwatiwa,Justin van der Merwe,2020-12-23 This book discusses the systematic expansion of the United States Africa Command AFRICOM across the continent of Africa This book posits that AFRICOM expansion in Africa is part of a broader system of accumulation based on a government business media GBM complex Applying the concept at both structural and descriptive levels the GBM complex is a function of the synergy between the state s quest for power businesses need for expansion and the informational and hegemonic functions of media actors The United States GBM complex in Africa is supported and in some locations spearheaded by its military with dispossessing effects on local actors Drawing from African case studies analytical accounts and empirical case studies this book explores AFRICOM s role within this broader strategy The volume maps both the methods and the scope of this expansion as well as local resistance to this process and comprises perspectives from the five regions of Africa key sub

African Navies Timothy Stapleton,2022-11-11 This edited volume focuses on aspects of the understudied theme of African sea power including African navies and the engagement of non African navies with the continent Africa possesses 48 000 kilometers of coastline comprising 38 out of 54 of the continent s states and several strategic choke points for international shipping such as the Suez Canal the Gulf of Aden and the Cape of Good Hope Nevertheless post colonial Africa s small navies and their relations with the navies of external powers have not received much scholarly attention Focusing on Sub Saharan Africa this collection attempts to address this neglect and stimulate further research by offering original chapters related to historical and contemporary themes around Africa s navies The historical chapters cover the origin of the Tanzanian Ethiopian Nigerian and Ghana navies during the era of decolonization and the Cold War the asymmetrical naval campaign fought during the Nigerian Civil War 1967 70 and the activities of the Soviet Navy in supporting African states and movements fighting lingering colonialism and white supremacy during the 1970s and 1980s Focusing on the contemporary situation other chapters discuss the engagement of the Indian Navy with Africa the potential role of the Angolan and Mozambican navies in the Southern African Development Community SADC the transformation and development of the post apartheid South African Navy and the challenges and capabilities of African navies in the early twenty first century The book concludes by discussing the question of whether African coastal countries need navies This book will be of much interest to students of naval power strategic studies African politics and International Relations Chapters 1 2 6 and 8 of this book are available for free in Open Access at www.taylorfrancis.com It has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4 0 license The Rise of China and India in Africa Fantu Cheru,Cyril Obi,2010-03-11 In recent years China and India have become the most important economic partners of Africa and their footprints are growing by leaps and bounds transforming Africa s international relations in a dramatic way Although the overall impact of China and India s engagement in Africa has been positive in the short term partly as a result of higher returns from commodity exports fuelled by excessive demands from both countries little research exists on the actual impact of China and India s growing involvement on Africa s economic transformation This book examines in detail the opportunities and challenges posed by the increasing presence of China and India in Africa and proposes critical interventions that African governments must undertake in order to negotiate with China and India from a stronger and more informed platform U.S. Army Campaigns of the Civil War: The Civil War in the West, 1863

Andrew N. Morris, The Civil War in the West 1863 by Andrew N Morris is the latest addition to the Center of Military History s U S Army Campaigns of the Civil War series In 1863 Union and Confederate forces fought for control of Chattanooga a key rail center The Confederates were victorious at nearby Chickamauga in September However renewed fighting in Chattanooga that November provided Union troops a victory control of the city and drove the Confederates south into Georgia The Union success left its armies poised to invade the Deep South the following year An Army of Influence Craig Stockings,Peter Dennis,2021-11-15 The importance of regional cooperation is becoming more apparent as the world moves into the third decade of the 21st century An Army of Influence is a thought provoking analysis of the Australian Army s capacity to change with a particular focus on the Asia Pacific region Written by highly regarded historians strategists and practitioners this book examines the Australian Army s influence abroad and the lessons it has learnt from its engagement across the Asia Pacific region It also explores the challenges facing the Australian Army in the future and provides principles to guide operational administrative and modernisation planning Containing full colour maps and images An Army of Influence will be of interest to both the wider defence community and general readers It underscores the importance of maintaining an ongoing presence in the region and engages with history to address the issues facing the Army both now and into the future
